Gen. Hooker's Army Again Across the Rappahannock.

Eight Days' Rations Carried by the Men.

A Report that Gen. Keyes Has Captured Richmond.

Our Losses in the Recent Operations Estimated at 17,000.

THE ENEMY'S LOSSES MUCH HEAVIER.

Our Special Correspondent's Account of Stoneman's Great Raid.

Our Forces Nine Days Within the Enemy's Lines.

TEN COUNTIES VISITED.

Immense Losses Inflicted Upon the Enemy.

The following important dispatches were published in our Sunday edition. We reproduce them, this morning, because we have positive knowledge that one of the reports which they contain is true—the one relating to the movements of the Army of the Potomac. Gen. Hooker is again across the Rappahannock, and operating against Lee's shattered columns:

PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, May 9.

The Bulletin, of this City, publishes the following highly important intelligence this evening:

"We learn from the editors of the Philadelphia Inquirer that one of their correspondents, who has just returned from Washington, informed them that Gen. Hooker recrossed the Rappahannock in force yesterday, the men carrying eight days' rations with them.

We also learn from another source, that is vouched for as reliable, that Gen. Keyes has taken Richmond, having advanced upon it by way of Yorktown, and that the Federal flag now floats over the rebel Capitol.

If Gen. STONEMAN has cut off the communications of Gen. LEE, as is reported, it will be a work of time for Gen. LEE to reach the rebel Capital. In the meantime, HOOKER is upon his heels.

LATER.—We have confirmation from a perfectly reliable source that Gen. HOOKER has recrossed the Rappahannock.

Gold has been falling rapidly, and this fact has probably resulted from the important movements reported above.

We have no quotations of the price of the precious metal since the reception of this important news.

The telegraph is silent concerning the startling intelligence which is already stirring Third and Chestnut streets, and exciting the greatest enthusiasm."

A LATER DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, May 9.

It is reported that private advices have been received in this city from Fortress Monroe, stating that 10,000 Federal troops arrived there on the 5th inst. as reinforcements, and immediately moved forward for the attack on Richmond.

There is no doubt that Gen. Hooker has recrossed the Rappahannock.

It is also stated that Gen. STONEMAN (Gen. KEYES—ED. TIMES) was lying at the White House on the 5th inst., and securing reinforcements by transports, via York River, when he immediately moved forward to Richmond.

The people of this city are in the highest state of enthusiasm over this news.

AFFAIRS ACROSS THE RAPPAHANNOCK.

PHILADELPHIA, Sunday, May 10.

The following intelligence is from the Washington correspondence of the Press:

Yesterday Gen. PLEASANTON's cavalry crossed the river, and proceeded immediately to the front, for the purpose of reconnoitering the enemy's position. Two hours' ride brought them to our old position about Chancellorsville. In this neighborhood no rebels were discovered, except killed and wounded. These were disposed of properly as rapidly as possible.

A considerable number of stragglers and skulkers from the rebel army, and some of our own men, came into our lines yesterday, and gave themselves up. The former protest that they have no feeling in this war, and are willing to take the oath and become good citizens. Some of the men saw columns of rebels retreating, panic-stricken and in confusion, on Wednesday night, through a terrible rain storm.

OUR SPECIAL ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

LETTER FROM HEADQUARTERS.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Friday, May 8, 1863.

The total loss of our army in the series of engagements which it has encountered during the last ten days is estimated by competent judges at about seventeen thousand. Dr. LETTERMAN, Medical Director of the Army, estimates the total number of wounded at ten thousand. Add to this prisoners and wounded now in rebel hands, some seven thousand more. The enemy's loss cannot have been less than our own. In the battle of Monday evening, at Salem Heights, it was much greater, as they rushed upon our batteries with all the recklessness which characterized their charges on our guns at Malvern Hills. No better evidence of the severe punishment which they received is needed than the fact of their not pursuing us when recrossing the river.

President LINCOLN, Gen. HALLECK and Secretary STANTON, who have been here, returned to Washington last evening.

Col. IRWIN, of the Forty-ninth Pennsylvania, wounded at the laying of the pontoons, is to be conveyed to Washington this morning, with a large number of others. The wounded in the hospitals at Potomac Creek bridge are to be taken to the Capital. Col. BROWN, (Thirty-sixth New-York,) of Brooklyn, wounded in the thigh at the storming of the heights, is doing well.

Col. SPEAR, Sixty-first Pennsylvania, killed in the same charge, was shot in the same place and manner as Col. RIPPEY, the first Colonel of the regiment, who lost his life at the battle of Fair Oaks.

The taking up of the bridges over the Rappahannock cut off the retreat of several of our soldiers who were employed on detached duty on the other side. Lieut. BROWN, of the Sixty-first Pennsylvania, who was detailed on picket, reaching the river and finding the bridge gone, swam across with a party of men.

Everything was progressing finely until the rebels succeeded in flanking us Monday morning above Fredericksburgh. Had it not been for this fatal mistake, pushing on and leaving the heights, a glorious victory would have crowned our efforts. As it is, we cannot be said to have met with a defeat, but a repulse. We have captured a large number of cannon, taken more prisoners than were taken from us, and have lost less in killed and wounded than the enemy. No Generals were killed in the Sixth corps. Gen. BROOKS was wounded, and Gen. HILL reported injured. The army is not disheartened or demoralized, but confident and hopeful, desirous of again crossing the river. In every fair and open fight of this movement, they have whipped the enemy. The cutting of its way through the rebels by the Sixth corps, was an achievement calculated to inspire the troops with confidence in themselves.

The weather has been very rainy and unpleasant since Monday.

GEN. STONEMAN'S GREAT RAID.

A Narrative of Events by Our Special Correspondent who Accompanied the Expedition.

HEADQUARTERS STONEMAN'S CAVALRY CORPS, FRIDAY, May 8, 1863.

I have already forwarded you, by telegraph, a brief account of STONEMAN's recent cavalry raid. The importance of this movement, in a military point of view, seems to warrant a more detailed statement of what transpired during this short but brilliant cavalry campaign—the first worth mentioning undertaken during the present war, and the inauguration, it is to be hoped, of a new policy in its conduct. As the details of this novel expedition entirely within the lines of the enemy, and mainly near the heart and capital of the rebel Confederacy, must be of universal and paramount interest, I shall endeavor, so far as may be possible, to describe events as they occurred from day to day.

An account of what transpired during the fifteen days' delay occasioned by bad weather, (from the 13th to the 28th of April,) you have already published. I will, therefore, take up the thread of narrative at the time when it may be said the command first entered the enemy's lines by crossing Kelly's Ford. This was effected without damage, on the morning of Wednesday, April 29, the Eleventh, Twelfth and Fifth Army corps crossing on the same day. One division, however, of Gen. STONEMAN's command, that commanded by Gen. AVERILL, forded the river near the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, and soon after crossing encountered a small force of the enemy's cavalry, and a fight, in which artillery was employed for a short time, ensued—the enemy retiring after a brief contest. The loss on either side was small. Gen. AVERILL's orders were understood to be to proceed along the road towards Culpepper and Gordonsville, and by a dashing flank movement to [illegible] located in that vicinity, employed, while detachments from the main column were engaged in the most important duty of cutting off the rebel army of the Rappahannock from its base of operations. Unfortunately, Gen. Averill's command did not protect the right of the main body, and, as a consequence, the operations at different points were materially interfered with. His guns were heard on Thursday, and from prisoners subsequently captured, we learned that a force had been encountered at Rapidan Station, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, and after a short fight, Gen. AVERILL retired. At all events he was not seen, nor his anxiously listened-for guns were not heard again.

Gen. BUFORD went to the left after crossing Kelly's Ford, and had a skirmish with the enemy. The enemy charged and were repulsed; before they advanced again an abattis was constructed out of trees; the enemy charged, received a volley and retired, leaving one dead man on the field.

Gen. STONEMAN, with the bulk of his command, remained near Kelly's Ford until nightfall, when the order to march was given, and the whole force crossed and bivouacked a short distance beyond a little rivulet—now much swollen by the recent rains—known as Fleshman's River. Here, in an open plowed field, the troops slept soundly, without other protection from a cold, pitiless rain-storm that prevailed all night, than that afforded by their blankets and rubber cloths. The night was dreary in the extreme. All fires were prohibited, all bugle calls were suspended, and orders were delivered sotto voce, so that the enemy should have no opportunity whatever of judging of the number or position of the force. These precautions were carefully observed during the nine days' campaign, and to this may be attributed in part the success of the enterprise with so little loss.

Thursday morning (April 30) the whole command was aroused from slumber before daylight; after a little shaking and wringing, "Boots and saddle" was whispered to the different commanders, and we were soon upon the road again. The facility with which man adapts himself to any circumstances—particularly if a little disagreeable in point of fact—was exemplified this morning. The night had been cold and wet, just about as disagreeable weather as one meets during a lifetime, and nearly everybody was drenched to the skin, and yet not a man could have been found willing to own that he was in any way uncomfortable. In fact, the comfortable night's rest obtained in three inches of mud and water, was the boast of every one. "Never slept better in my life," said a gentleman of the medical persuasion, who had just wrung the water out of his blankets and seated himself in a soaked saddle, and who the day before was suffering the torment of rheumatic pains from head to foot. What the worthy doctor expressed, all experienced. Our pickets were charged upon during the night by strolling rebel cavalry, but the camp was not alarmed; in fact, the affair was not generally known in camp. The same movement was repeated at early dawn, without damage. Our troops are quite conscious of their strength, and will not easily be scared from their purpose. The command, which had before been culled of all sick men and doubtful horses, was culled again to-day, and all pack animals save about twenty, all weak horses, and all sick or weak-kneed troops, were sent back across the river.

The command was at last in light marching order. To-day, being well within the enemy's lines, great caution was exercised; proceeding a few miles through a piece of woods in parallel columns, a large open space of rolling ground was reached, when a halt was made in the woods, and the whole district was patrolled for an enemy. These precautionary plans were carried out during the whole expedition. The exercise of caution was particularly necessary to-day, because cannonading could be heard on the right—supposed to be in Gen. AVERILL's command. The advance of Gen. BUFORD's column arrived near Mitchell's Ford, on the Rapidan, at 1 o'clock P. M. Lieut. PENN GASKELL, Aid-de-Camp, with a squadron of the Fifth cavalry, crossed, and dashing up the river, caused some 1,500 rebel infantry—assembled to protect the crossing at Raccoon Ford, two miles above—to leave in great haste. They succeeded in escaping with a piece of artillery which they had intended to use upon the head of Gen. GREGG's column. Lieut. PENN GASKELL followed the flying fugitives for five miles, on the road toward Orange Court-house, (capturing a Lieutenant and nine men, mostly artillerymen,) and Gen. GREGG crossed the river at Raccoon Ford without difficulty. At night the whole force encamped on a hill commanding the ford, with orders to be in the saddle at 2 A. M.

Friday, May 1st, another cold, wet night, was passed in the open air, and all pretended to enjoy it hugely, and the men were standing to horse at the hour indicated, but the march was not commenced till after daylight—a guide was wanted. Major FALLS, of Gen. GREGG's Staff, foraged to supply the deficiency, and soon after caused much amusement by dashing along the line at the head of the column with a reliable contraband astride his horse behind. To-day, at Orange Spring, a Lieutenant on Jackson's Staff, named MOUNT, was captured while returning from Fauquier County, where he had been on a short leave of absence. He alleges he was captured only when his horse became unmanageable. The approach to Orange Spring was very quiet, and so close upon a column of rebel cavalry that they were forced to throw away several wagon-loads of provisions, and abandon their jaded horses and accoutrements. A few stragglers were captured. Among the captures to-day was a rebel engineer and team filled with the implements employed in his department. At 3 o'clock P. M., scouts reported that several hundred of the enemy's cavalry, with a train, were escaping by a side road on our right. Col. WYNDHAM was sent in pursuit, and went to the vicinity of Madison, without overhauling the force, however. There was some straggling to-day, owing to the desire of a few of the rear guard to obtain peach brandy, which the inhabitants deal out liberally, with a view, no doubt, to making captures. The day and night being pleasant, the command marched until 3½ o'clock Saturday morning, May 2, when a halt was made at Greenwood, one mile west of Louisa Court-house.

Here was reached the Central Virginia Railroad. Detachments were sent up and down the road for miles to destroy the track, culverts and bridges, and also to act as pickets to prevent surprise. The work was well done. Just at dawn, Col. KILPATRICK charged into Louisa Court-house. The visit of Yankees was entirely unexpected, and the people were caught napping, just as they had rolled over for a morning snooze.

The possibility of the invading troops being Yankees was not dreamed of until several straggling rebel soldiers had been arrested. They supposed it to be STUART's cavalry. When the scales had fallen from their eyes with the rising of the sun, the whole town was panic-stricken. Fully believing the villainous falsehoods so industriously and pertinaciously circulated by the Jeff. Davis despotism at Richmond, as to the treatment the people had everywhere received at the hands of our soldiers, they were much relieved when assured that their lives would be spared, and that private property would not be interfered with, except in such cases as all civilized nations consider legitimate—supplying the actual necessities of the troops. After this assurance, the people talked freely and unreservedly with officers and men. A breakfast—consisting of corn, hog, hominy and rye coffee—was obtained at the hotel for $2. For shilling calico, $2 50 per yard was asked at the stores; very poor whisky, $32 per gallon, and everything else was proportionately high. The people of this town, like those of many others I have visited in rebeldom, occupy a humiliating position. They are not [illegible] for themselves at all. That labor is performed for them at Richmond, and all they have to do is to pay. JEFF. DAVIS has full control over their minds; they are passive instruments in his hands, and, as a rule, but few have any excuse for opposing the Government of the Union, except that they are told to do so by the master demons of the rebellion. To-day the people of Louisa saw for the first time Uncle Samuel's postal currency, and offered any number of Confederate paper dollars for Uncle Sam's paper representative of twenty-five cents. Greenbacks are held in high estimation. A pair of shoes, for which a storekeeper demanded $25, were offered for $7, if paid in greenbacks. The reader should bear in mind that this was in a place where the rebel Government has heretofore held undisputed sway.

While halting in Louisa, a squadron of the First Maine cavalry, picketing the Culpepper road, was attacked by a superior force, and, after a most gallant resistance, fell back, leaving two dead. The First Maine and Second New-York were sent to their support, when the enemy fled. The ladies, yesterday, along the road, assured us that we should have "plenty of fight" at Louisa Court-house. But like many other rebel boasts, the wish was father to the thought.

At 4 o'clock P. M. Saturday, May 2, the railroad having been destroyed for miles, and a number of cars and bridges—over Greenwood and Hickory Rivers—burned, horses and troopers well supplied with rations, the command was moved upon a hill to the east of the town, and there for an hour awaited the threatened attack by troops known to be approaching from Gordonsville. But the two regiments at the west of the town were quite sufficient to induce a retrograde movement of both infantry and cavalry. At 5 o'clock the command started for Thompson's Cross Roads, (or Four Corners,) which point was reached at about 11½ o'clock P. M. From here the different expeditions started to cut the enemy's lines. At 12 o'clock midnight, Gen. STONEMAN called all of the principal officers together, and explained his general plan of operations. The commander of each detachment was directed to specific points to be destroyed—the special object of his mission accomplished, he was allowed the widest latitude for any further operations.

By 2½ o'clock Sunday morning, May 3, the several expeditions had started. The moon was shining brightly, the roads were comparatively good, and for once in the history of the war, everything was in harmony. Col. WYNDHAM, of the First New-Jersey cavalry, with his own and the First Maine regiments—in all about 500 men, took a southerly direction, and crossing Owen's Creek, Licking Hole Creek, Little Licking Hole Creek, Little Byrd Creek, and several other creeks, reached Columbia, on the James River, at about 8 o'clock A. M. The approach of the force had been heralded, but no one believed it. The man who went to the trouble of riding ten miles to give the inhabitants notice, was almost mobbed by the people—they doubted his sanity. "What! Yankees near Columbia?" said one citizen. "It is impossible; JEFF. DAVIS would not permit such an invasion" of the sacred soil. The furnisher of the unwelcome news had dirt thrown at him, was hooted at, and followed by a crowd of excited people, who were threatening him with all sorts of vengeance, just as the advance guard of Col. WYNDHAM's force, under Major BEAUMONT, dashed into town. There were no soldiers there. A dozen or more citizens succeeded in escaping across the river, and spreading the astounding intelligence, and soon after a squad of troopers appeared in the distance on the opposite bank. The people south of the river did not believe the story told by the fugitives. One man rode with his servant down to the river bank to see for himself. The servant seized upon the opportunity to ride into our lines. He was not pursued. A planter sent a son mounted on a valuable horse to ascertain the news—believing the force to be STUART's cavalry. The boy asked an officer if the Yankees had been whipped, and was told that they had. He expressed his satisfaction and was about leaving, when the officer told him he wanted a horse—his own was jaded. An exchange was speedily made. The boy was evidently somewhat puzzled at this summary proceeding, but thought it all right no doubt, as it was STUART's cavalry, and he rode off to tell his father the news. A negro who manifested some joyful emotion upon hearing that the Yankees were coming, was severely whipped by his master just below Columbia, a few hours before we reached the spot. The negro, upon being released, reiterated his former expression, and an attempt was made to whip him again. But he escaped, jumped into the river and was drowned. The old negro preacher on the plantation where the above occurred told me that his master "cuss'd de Yankees cause dey made 'im lose a fifteen-hundred-dollar nigger."

In the canal at Columbia was found several boats loaded for Richmond, with baled hay and commissary stores, all bearing the stencil mark of C. S. A. Another boat from Lynchburgh arrived during the day. The torch was applied to the boats; bridges across the canal—of which there were several—and a large quantity of medical and commissary goods found in a warehouse, were either burned or thrown into the river. The bank of the canal was cut at several points within five miles, and the locks destroyed. At Columbia the canal crosses the James River in a massive stone aqueduct. No one seems to have known of this structure; at all events, nothing was brought along to secure its destruction.

The engineer of the command, and Maj. BEAUMONT and Capt. THOMAS, of the First New-Jersey cavalry, each made special effort to destroy this structure. There were no blasting tools to be had; several kegs of blasting powder, however, were found in a storehouse, and three of the kegs were confined in a cask and the cask filled with pressed earth. The water in the aqueduct being eight feet deep, it was designed to sink this machine over one of the piers and destroy the same upon the Maillefert plan of blasting rocks under water. Everything was arranged and the cask was being lowered into the canal by means of a rope, when, unfortunately, the rope broke and the cask could not be recovered again within the time prudence dictated that absence from the place would be desirable. Several negroes, who followed that night, allege that two rebel regiments, with eight pieces of artillery, entered the place within two hours after Col. WYNDHAM evacuated it. At about 4 o'clock P. M., the detachment marched down the canal bank for about five miles, forded Byrd Creek, and taking the Fredericksburgh pike so far as it went in the right direction, arrived at Thompson's Four Corners at 10 o'clock the same night. This command, during the day, captured several hundred horses, and was followed into camp by a drove of negroes.

The movements of Gen. GREGG's command upon the Fredericksburgh and Richmond Railroad at Ashland and vicinity; that of Col. KILPATRICK and Col. DAVIS, upon the Virginia Central road, between the South Anna and Richmond, and the destruction of all the pike bridges on the South Anna, of trains of cars, of commissary stores and depots, have been referred to in a previous letter. Each of these detachments captured a large number of horses, and destroyed immense amounts of property in use by or ready for the agents of the rebellion.

Sunday and nearly all day Monday, Gen. BUFORD's command was stationed near Shannon Hill, and a detachment under Capt. DRUMMOND was sent to destroy the canal and bridge near Cedar Point, which work was most effectually accomplished. Sunday night, the 3d, it is believed both HAMPTON and LEE's brigades were encamped within two miles of Gen. BUFORD.

On the morning of the 5th a picket, consisting of 60 men, commanded by Lieut. STODDARD, of the Fifth cavalry, was attacked. Fifteen of our men were captured. Among the number missing are two officers, supposed to have been captured.

Tuesday, the 5th, the whole of the command concentrated near Yanceyville, and during the day Divine service was held in the St. James' Church at that place. The Rev. AL. O. BRICKMAN, Chaplain First Maryland cavalry, officiated, and a patriotic and fervent prayer was offered by Major C. H. RUSSELL, of the same regiment. In the afternoon the retrograde movement was commenced. Gen. BUFORD's division made a circuit, passing near Gordonsville. Gen. GREGG's division crossed the South Anna at Yanceyville, and on Friday morning, May 8, the whole force reached Kelly's Ford in safety.

On Thursday, just after crossing Raccoon Ford, Gen. STONEMAN sent Lieut. SUMNER, of his Staff, as bearer of dispatches to Gen. HOOKER, with whom he had not communicated since the 29th ult. Taking with him an escort of sixteen men, Lieut. SUMNER went to the Germanna Bridge, with a view to reaching, if possible, United States Ford. The result of the battle near Fredericksburgh was not then known. Information obtained from residents near Germanna Bridge satisfied Lieut. S. that it would not be prudent to go further in that direction. He accordingly proceeded to Richard's Ford, and with great difficulty succeeded in crossing in safety. The escort being unable to ford the river, moved back five miles to a farm-house, where they stopped for the night, and next morning overtook Gen. STONEMAN at Kelly's Ford. Not an armed rebel was seen by this party.

To sum up—Gen. STONEMAN moved about within the enemy's lines at will for nine days, with a force not exceeding 5,000 men; disabled every line of communication between the army of the Rappahannock and the Rebel capital—and the canal through which more than one-half of their supplies are received—so that, in the opinion of competent judges, neither line, provided the rebels have every facility for the work, can be repaired in less than four weeks; destroyed millions of dollars' worth of commissary stores, and other supplies; obstructed travel upon the main pikes, by destroying all bridges over large streams; gave the citizens of ten counties, viz., Culpepper, Spottsylvania, Orange, Hanover, Henrico, Louisa, Goochland, Fluvanna, King William and New Kent, an opportunity to see for themselves that not only are the Yankee soldiers confident and in good spirits, but are really human beings and not inhuman savages, as represented by the Richmond chivalry; captured hundreds of horses, and above all met the one great objection made to the Emancipation Proclamation, so far as the counties visited are concerned, by letting the colored population know that they are free, and weakening the producing class in rebeldom by the removal of hundreds of able-bodied men, and sowing the seed of demoralization among the rest, so that the laboring class, in fact as well as theory, becomes a dangerous element. All this has been accomplished by the raid of Gen. STONEMAN, with the loss, probably, of less than 100 men, all told—only two of whom were killed. As an offset to this loss our troops killed a number of rebels, and captured between one and two hundred prisoners.

THE REBELS AT HOME.

In the counties visited there were but few rebels found at home, except the very old and the very young. In nine days' travel I did not see fifty able-bodied men who were not in some way connected with the army. Nearly every branch of business is at a stand-still. The shelves in stores are almost everywhere empty; the shop of the artisan is abandoned and in ruins. The people who are to be seen passively submit to all that emanates from Richmond without a murmur; they are for the most part simple-minded, and ignorant of all that is transpiring in the great theatre about them. An intelligent-looking man in Columbia laughed heartily when told that Union troops occupied New-Orleans—JEFF. DAVIS would let them know it were such the fact; and I could not find a man who would admit that the Confederates had ever been beaten in a single engagement. These people do not even read the Richmond papers, and about all the information they do obtain is what is passed about in the primitive style, from mouth to mouth. Before this raid they believed that the Union soldiers were anything but civilized beings, and were stricken with terror when their approach was heralded. Of six churches seen in one day, in only one had there been religious services held within six months. One-half at least of the dwelling-houses are unoccupied, and fast going to decay.

ARE THE REBELS SHORT OF PROVISIONS?

The fear of famine was everywhere expressed; the Government seizes upon everything that can go to sustain the army, leaving those who are not in the army to shift as best they can. Many have provisions concealed to avoid the searching eyes of the Government agents. Through the agency of negroes, large quantities of provisions thus hid away were brought to light for the benefit of Union soldiers. The farmer's fold is regularly culled of all marketable sheep, swine and beeves, and what is left behind is not fit for the butcher's stall. The larder of the largest planters contains little else than bacon and corn meal. The wheat crop, now coming forward, is immense—in fact little else has been put in the ground. The rich valleys of the James and Rapidan Rivers are vast wheat-fields—more, in fact, than can be gathered, unless the army is turned to this work. The negroes are not numerous enough for the task, even were they not in a fair way of being so thoroughly demoralized as to refuse to work unless paid in "greenbacks."

THE NEGROES.

The negroes everywhere have an idea—how it got into their heads they cannot exactly tell, but it is there—that the Yankee troops were their friends, notwithstanding the contrary assertion of their masters, who from infancy they have been taught to obey. They everywhere crowded upon our columns and begged to be permitted to go along, and not unfrequently brought one or more horses with them as a sort of bribe. They pointed out where valuable horses were concealed, gave information as to the movement of Confederate troops, and at several places sat up all night to bake corn cakes for the Yankees, and for which they asked no remuneration. Some of them were so overjoyed at the sight of our soldiers that they gave vent to their feelings in prayer, thanking Jesus fervently for sending us.

THE LATEST REBEL REPORTS.

Another Dispatch from Gen. Lee.

Jackson's Left Arm Amputated.

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., Sunday, May 10.

The Chattanooga Rebel, of a late date, contains the following:

RICHMOND, Tuesday, May 5.

The following has been received from Gaines, near Fredericksburgh, dated May 5, and addressed to His Excellency President DAVIS:

"At the close of the battle of Chancellorsville on Sunday, the enemy was reported advancing from Fredericksburgh on our rear. Gen. MCLAWS was sent back to arrest his progress, and repulsed him handsomely.

That afternoon, learning that his force consisted of two corps, under Gen. SEDGWICK, I determined to attack him, and marched back yesterday with Gen. ANDERSON, and united with MCLAWS early in the afternoon, and succeeded, by the blessings of Heaven, in driving SEDGWICK over the river.

We have reoccupied Fredericksburgh, and no enemy remains south of the Rappahannock or in the vicinity.

R. E. LEE, General Commanding."

RICHMOND, May 5, 1863.

No official dispatch was received last night from Gen. LEE; but private dispatches report our victory complete. Gen. JACKSON's left arm was skilfully amputated below the shoulder by Dr. MCGUIRE, of Winchester. The General was removed to his country house, fifteen miles distant.

Direct communication with the army is not yet re-established.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Refusal of the North Carolina Banks to Pay Their Assessment to the Rebel Government.

Rebel Sympathizers Sent Outside the Lines.

Surprise and Capture of a Rebel Camp.

The United States steam transport Dudley Buck, Capt. SMITH, arrived yesterday, bringing intelligence from Newbern to May 5. Gen. FOSTER was still at Newbern, superintending the strengthening of the fortifications. There had been nothing heard of the rebels in the vicinities of Newbern and Washington.

The United States transport Long Island, Capt. PHILLIPS, accidentally took fire on the evening of the 30th ult., and was entirely destroyed. She was built at New-York, three years old, and formerly plied between this City and Glen Cove. She was insured by the Government.

NEWBERN, N. C., Tuesday, May 5.

The United States mail steamship Dudley Buck leaves here to-day for New-York.

A report came inside the lines yesterday that the North Carolina Banks had refused to pay their assessment to the Confederate Government, in which determination they are sustained by Gov. VANCE, who reiterates his threat to recall the rebel troops from this State.

Many of the reported rebel sympathizers, lately ordered outside the lines, have been permitted to remain, upon giving satisfactory assurance of loyalty. The rest leave to-morrow.

Gen. H. M. NAGLEE left here Saturday evening for Washington, D. C., on important business connected with this Department.

An order arrived here yesterday from Port Royal, S. C., directing the immediate return of Gen. HECKMAN's brigade to the Department of the South.

The establishment of a Court at Newbern, similar to that instituted last October at New-Orleans, is very generally desired by the citizens and business men. Several important cases, involving large amounts of property, are awaiting adjudication by some competent civil tribunal.

Rev. HORACE JAMES, of Massachusetts, has been appointed to succeed Rev. JAMES MEANS, deceased, as Superintendent of Blacks.

The small-pox has broken out in the contraband camp. No fears are entertained of its reaching the troops.

Gen. WESSELLS and Staff left on the 3d inst. for Plymouth, to assume command of the District of Albemarle.

The sanitary condition of the Department is excellent.

NEWBERN, N. C., Wednesday, May 6.

On the 5th inst., Lieut.-Col. LEWIS, of the Third New-York cavalry, made a reconnoissance with a battalion of his regiment from Newport to Petties' Mills, where Capt. WHITFORD's rebel company were stationed. Col. LEWIS taking the enemy by surprise, ordered a charge, which resulted in the capture of the rebel camp, 25 horses, 14 prisoners, the company arms and equipments, without any loss on our side. Two of the enemy were killed.

The Commanding General of this Department having been officially apprised that Gen. WILD is coming hither to raise an African brigade, informs the Secretary of War that he will not only give Gen. WILD all the assistance in his power, but will enter into the work cheerfully, believing that the black troops will fight.

A large number of secession residents of Newbern were sent outside of our lines this morning. The order for the expulsion of these people will be rigidly enforced throughout the Department.

The rebel Gen. GARNETT's brigade, attached to Gen. HILL's command, who remains in this vicinity, has gone to Virginia.

The United States mail steamer Ellen S. Terry, Capt. CHAPIN, leaves here at 4 o'clock P. M. to-day for New-York.

A sensation was created here by the marriage this morning of CHARLES C. LAWRENCE, of Boston, a member of the Forty-fourth Massachusetts, to the accomplished daughter of ISRAEL DISOSWAY, a banker in Newbern. After making a transfer of his property to the bridegroom, the father left our lines with other disloyal citizens.

Nearly twelve thousand men belonging to the nine months' and two years' regiments in this Department will soon be mustered out of the service. It is hoped that the patriotism of the North will perceive the propriety of raising a fund to promote enlistments in loyal North Carolina regiments.

ANOTHER RAID BY OUR CAVALRY

Destruction of the Richmond and Tennessee Railroad by Gen. Buford.

Important Information Gained and Large Quantities of Stores Destroyed.

PHILADELPHIA, Sunday, May 10.

The Press' Washington correspondent says:

"It is understood that Gen. BURNS, with his light brigade, has penetrated to the Alleghany Ridge in Western Virginia, and that he is now returning, having destroyed the Richmond and Tennessee Railroad in several places, captured many prisoners, obtained important information, and burned large quantities of stores intended for the rebel armies in the South-west."

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

The Arrival of a Detachment of Stoneman's Cavalry at Gloucester Point—An Expedition to White House—Capture of Rebel Cavalry in North Carolina, &c.

FORTRESS MONROE, Friday, May 8.

Maj.-Gen. DIX and Staff arrived at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the steamer Express, from York River, and inform us that Cols. KILPATRICK and DAVIS have arrived at Gloucester Point with 700 cavalry, without the loss of a man.

The General sent a force to the White House last night, and they succeeded in destroying the bridge about that place, and made some important captures, including several prisoners.

The steamer Ellen S. Terry arrived to-day from Newbern, with the mails from Newbern and Hatteras. She left Newbern on Wednesday evening, and reports that on that day our cavalry brought in one company of rebel prisoners, with all their horses, captured at Deep Gully, seven miles out.

The steamer Wyoming has arrived from Port Royal, but brings no news.

Last Wednesday morning Gen. FOSTER sent all the rebel families—forty in number—out of Newbern. The rebels refused to receive our flag of truce, and the families were left beyond our lines, and between ours and the rebel pickets, at a place called Core Creek.

"Sartin, every man of us, and day after to-morrow if you will give us a chance at you."

Printing Paper from Europe.

From the Poughkeepsie Eagle.

The New-York TIMES comes to us printed on paper imported from Belgium, ordered in consequence of the impositions practiced by the paper makers' combination in this country. It is of very good quality and color—in fact, we should think, rather superior to the paper in common use among us. The TIMES says it can be bought in Belgium at from seven to seven and a half cents a pound, and imported at a rate which makes it cheaper than the paper made here. This will have a good effect to prevent further advance in this important article.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The New-York TIMES has imported 5,000 reams of printing paper from Belgium to supply its own demand. It expresses the opinion that American paper-makers cannot, by their combination, force printing paper above fifteen cents per pound, for the reason that it can be imported at that price.

The May Magazines.

—The Atlantic Monthly—Boston: TICKNOR & FIELDS—takes its usual high literary stand, by the help of writers as distinguished as HAWTHORNE, WHITTIER, Miss PRESCOTT, GAIL HAMILTON and others, while Science is represented by Prof. AGASSIZ, in his "Fern Forests of the Carboniferous Period," and Dr. OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES. The article of Dr. HOLMES, "The Human Wheel; its Spokes and Felloes," with its mixture of fact, fun and fancy, could have been written by no one but himself. It is an exposition of the philosophy and practice of walking, in connexion with an account of the admirable substitute provided by B. FRANK PALMER for a missing limb. NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE's "Up the Thames" is another picture from the gallery of English scenes, so peculiarly impressed on his mind by his residence abroad, and now reproduced with wonderful, though unapparent art. It includes the account of a visit to LEIGH HUNT, told with the tender and graceful sympathy common to minds of a kindred order. "CHARLES LAMB's Uncollected Writings" will be acceptable to all lovers of "Elia," and shows how much remains to be done for their favorite author. The politics of the number are comprised in "Shall We Compromise?" by D. D. WASSON, where a conclusion is arrived at from which there will be few dissentients.

—Harper's Monthly commences in the present number a new series of illustrated articles, entitled "Scenes in the War of 1812." They are from the facile pen and pencil of Mr. LOSSING, whose Field-book of the Revolution marked an era in American history. The first is devoted to "HULL's Campaign," a subject which can now be considered more impartially than at an early period. Mr. LOSSING's opinion of Gen. HULL is that he erred rather through weakness than intentional treason to the responsibilities of his command. "A Trip through the Caucasus" is a lively sketch by a young American traveler—doubly welcome, from the paucity of information on that region in our language. "The Drift of American Society" is a paper above the usual calibre of magazine articles. Miss EVANS' "Romola" and Mr. TROLLOPE's "Arlington House," are continued for the lovers of fiction, to whose tastes the usual number of "nouvelettes" of social life also ministers; while "The Cry of the Houseless" paints strongly, but truly, one of the evils of New-York life—the difficulty of finding a respectable domicile by persons of moderate means, and is especially appropriate at the present season. Altogether the number is one of more than average attraction.

—The Continental Monthly (New-York, JOHN F. TROW) opens with an article by Mrs. KIRKLAND, whose name we gladly welcome back to Literature. Her "Great Prairie State" is a review of the progress and prospects of Illinois. "A Winter in Camp," "The Surrender of Forts Jackson and St. Philip, on the Mississippi," "The Causes and Results of the War," (by Lieut. EGBERT PHELPS,) are valuable contributions to cotemporary history. "A Merchant's Story," by the author of "Among the Pines," and Mr. KIMBALL's "Was he Successful?" are the most noticeable among the lighter articles. Mrs. MARTHA COOK's "War Song—Earth's Last Battle," is a spirited lyric. Dr. STURTEVANT's "Destiny of the African Race in the United States," deals hopefully with a subject of pressing importance.

—The Knickerbocker Monthly, under the charge of its new editor, Mr. CORNWALLIS, keeps up worthily the reputation acquired in former years by this Nestor of Periodicals. The Editor's Table is still spread with good things as of yore, and the new generation of storytellers replaces not unsuccessfully the names formerly familiar to us in its pages. "The Social Condition of Woman" is an earnest appeal to the sex in favor of the equality it advocates. "Adrift on the World," is an autobiography by the editor, with probably a small spice of romance mixed in with the sober truth.

—The Eclectic Magazine of Foreign Literature presents its readers as usual the flower and cream of foreign periodical literature. Mr. BIDWELL's experienced taste is conspicuous in the selections which relate largely to matters of current interest, including the princely marriage, (accompanied by fine portraits.) "Travel in Siam and China," "The Jewish Church," apropos to Dr. STANLEY's new book; "The Antiquity of Man," a notice of Sir C. LYELL's work; "The Life and Times of Savonarola," are all topics deserving attention, ably treated by the first talent of the day.

MONDAY, May 11—A. M.

The past week was one of intense excitement and profound concern in reference to the events on the Rappahannock. For a day or two the gloom and disappointment of the public because of the retreat of HOOKER, operated as a serious check to business. But after all the facts were made known, and better news had been received from STONEMAN in the rear of the enemy, and also from the Army of the Mississippi, there was a sensible restoration of confidence, and the markets improved. At no time was the repulse of HOOKER felt upon the voluntary subscriptions of the people to the Public Loan of 1862, which are going on at the rate of a million and a half a day, nor to the extent of over 1@2 ₱ cent. on the Public Loans and Treasury paper of the previous issues. The large receipts from subscriptions have kept the Treasury in advance of its disbursements, and the present balance stands, at the New-York office, $23,610,380 against $22,629,700 at the close of the previous week, and $15,251,163 the week before.

The public who have Money to invest, are appreciating more and more every day the superior credit and liberal and certain interest in Gold Coin of the Public Funds of the Government, and it is not surprising that advantage is taken of the few days' grace yet allowed for converting United States Currency at par into the 5-20 year 6 ₱ cent. Stock of 1862. The Loan Agent in Philadelphia and his Sub-Agents in Wall-street, are fairly overrun with applications for all sorts of sums from $100,000 down to $50 or $100 Bonds of this issue. A large number of applications are also made at the Treasury Office direct. At the present premium on Gold, the Stock pays, clear of all taxation, 9 ₱ cent. ₱ annum; when Gold falls to 133¼, it will pay 8 ₱ cent., and when to 125 ₱ cent., it will pay 7½ ₱ cent ₱ annum. On the restoration of Peace and the subsequent general resumption of Specie payments, while the income will return to 6 ₱ cent., the universal preference which will be shown for this over all local securities paying 6 or even 7 ₱ cent. interest, will enable the holder, if so disposed, to sell out at a handsome premium. Indeed, there is every prospect that the negotiations of the Treasury, to follow the 30th June, when voluntary conversions at par will cease, will be made either on the same 6 ₱ cent. Stock at a premium, or on a 5 ₱ cent. Stock at par. Meanwhile the Loan of 1881 is commanding 107½@108 ₱ cent., and will, in all probability, reach 110 before the 1st July coupon falls due. The Loan is now so widely distributed and firmly held, that these rates bring out but few sellers.

The absorption of United States Currency by the popular subscriptions to the new Loan has temporarily influenced the price of Money, and 6 @ 7 ₱ cent. is now paid by the Stock Exchange; the demand being largely increased by the active speculation going forward on the Railway Shares, while the disbursements of the Treasury have fallen off since the recent payment of all arrearages to the army, &c., to 1st May. But these will soon be very large again, and this fact being understood, the turn in the rates to the Brokers from 5 up to 6@7 ₱ cent. appears to have little or no influence on the Railway movement. It is perhaps more sensibly felt on Gold Coin, in connection with the relatively lower figures for Exchange, and the consequent absence of an export demand for Gold. The small parcels going forward are mostly in Foreign Coin and California bars. The price for American Gold Coin, on the first news of HOOKER's retreat, advanced to 157½ @155 ₱ cent., but subsequently fell off to 150 ₱ cent., the same figure quoted at the close of the previous week. Exchange on London, 164@165 ₱ cent. Money, 5 ₱ cent. on United States Securities and 6@7 ₱ cent. on other collaterals. The movement on the Share list shows an advance for the week on several Railways of 5@10 ₱ cent., on others 5@7 ₱ cent., and on Erie and New-York Central 2½@3 ₱ cent. The following is the general

The price of Gold Coin, on Saturday, was 2¼ ₱ cent. below the average sales of Friday. The market was weak through the forenoon, and sales were made at the early Board as low as 149 ₱ cent., as against 152¼ at the close on Friday night. In the afternoon, the price recovered to 150¼@150¾ ₱ cent., ultimately closing 150 ₱ cent. The export demand is very inconsiderable, the entire shipments of the week amounting to only $456,000, and the speculation for the rise is necessarily maintained with difficulty, while Exchange rules relatively lower than Gold. The excitement on the Stock Exchange continues to increase, and the business done in Railway shares is enormous. The changes in prices since Friday are nearly all upward, and very decidedly so on Michigan Southern, Toledo, and Cleveland and Pittsburgh. There was a partial check to the demand for Harlem; the price going down to 93@93½ ₱ cent., but only for a few minutes, the subsequent recovery being to 96½@97 ₱ cent. At 4 o'clock the following prices were made, as compared with Friday night, the general market closing under much speculative excitement. The Government Stocks were firm, and the offerings of the Old Loan at the Board quite moderate at 106¾ for the registered and 107½@¾ for the Coupon Stock of 1881. The subscriptions to the New Loan of 1882 reached $1,617,750:

The telegraph on Saturday announced the final consolidation of the business of the three Railway Corporations between Buffalo and Toledo, around the southern shore of Lake Erie. The basis for the future division of earnings is, we learn through another source, the relative traffic on the three roads for the past three years. This consolidation has been, in a good measure, anticipated by the holders and buyers of Cleveland and Toledo shares, but the news, nevertheless, brought in orders as high as 115@117 ₱ cent. The Buffalo and State Line, and Painesville and Ashtabula Stocks are out of the market—last prices 180 to 200 ₱ cent.

Shipments since opening navigation, 79,928 bbls. Wheat—Prices are remarkably steady compared with those in the neighboring markets, and the foreign news advanced rates on Wednesday afternoon. A violent snow-storm prevailed nearly all day yesterday. Receipts for week have averaged 28,000 bushels per day, against an average of 48,000 bushels for corresponding days last year. Freights to Buffalo firm at 5c., and to Oswego at 13c. To New-York through contracts can be made at 24c. We quote No. 1 Spring on board, at $1 20½; No. 2 at $1 10; rejected, 95c.@99c. HIDES—Receipts have been heavy, and sales moderate, during the week. The receipts were 86,505 hides, and the sales 24,050 hides, the latter including, according to Messrs. H. D. HULL & Co., 11,700 Dry Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, 20@22 lbs., 25¾c., cash, usual selection; 2,500 Dry Rio Grande, 20½ lbs., 25¾c., cash, usual selection; 1,300 Dry California, 25 lbs., private terms; 1,300 Dry Vera Cruz, 20 lbs., 23c., cash; 1,000 Dry Central American, 18 lbs., private terms; 1,400 Dry West Indies, 18 lbs., private terms; 850 Dry Tampico, 21 lbs., private terms; 800 Dry Western, 25 lbs., 21c., cash; 700 Dry Rio Hacha, 19 lbs., private terms; 500 Dry Salted Chili, 32 lbs., private terms; 2,600 Western and City Slaughter, 70@80 lbs., 9½c.@10c., cash; 72 bales Calcutta Slaughter Cow, private terms. The stock on hand of Ox and Cow hides is 245,800, (same time last year, 275,300; year before, 334,400,) and 310 bales.

LEATHER—The week's movements in this line, Messrs. WEISEL & WEIDEMEYER notice thus: "Hemlock Sole.—Sales of the week have been considerable, and the stock in dealers' hands is much reduced. A number of Eastern buyers and some speculators were in town, and purchased freely. The trade in general seem to think that prices have reached their lowest for the present, and are not disposed to crowd sales. Rough leather is in brisk demand. Oak Sole.—The inquiry for sole leather continues limited, at steady prices. Receipts and sales were about of equal extent. Upper in rough is in improved demand, at firm rates. Week's Receipts of sole leather, about 38,000 sides."

LUMBER—A fair business has been reported in Eastern Spruce and Pine, at former quotations.

MOLASSES—New-Orleans sold to the extent of 1,050 bbls., at 43c.@50½c., privately and at auction, ₱ gallon. Other kinds were inactive.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been quite depressed, sales having been made of 1,800 bbls, in lots, at $13 50@$12 62½ for old Mess; $14 40@$14 50 for new Mess; and $11@$12 75 for old and new Prime, ₱ bbl. Cut Meats are in demand, at 6¼c.@7½c. for Hams; 5c.@5¾c., for Shoulders, ₱ lb. Bacon is in fair request, at 8¼c.@9c. ₱ lb.; sales 1,400 boxes. Lard is declining; sales 950 tcs. and bbls., at 9½c.@10½c. ₱ lb. Beef continues inactive, at $12@$13 50 for Extra Mess, and $10@$12 for Plain Mess, ₱ bbl. Prime Mess, $19 50@$21 ₱ tierce; India Mess, $22 50@$25 ₱ tierce. Beef Hams, $14@$16 50 ₱ bbl. Butter is in moderate demand, at 14c.@17c. for poor to choice Western, and 16c.@20c. for common to choice State, ₱ lb. Cheese is selling, in lots, at 9c.@14c. ₱ lb.

RICE—Sales have been reported of 100 bags East India, at $8 25@$8 50 ₱ 100 lbs.

SALT—Has been in more request, at advanced prices, including Liverpool Ground at $1 50@$1 55, and do. Fine at $2 20@$2 75 ₱ sack; and Turk's Island a 40c.@42c. ₱ bushel.

SUGARS—The market was less active to-day; sales, privately and by auction, 780 hhds., including New-Orleans, at 9c.@12c., and Cuba at 10½c.@11¾c., with 125 boxes Havana, at 11¼c.@11¾c. ₱ lb.

WHISKY—Sales 450 bbls., in lots, at 45c.@45½c.; mainly at 45c. ₱ gallon.

WOOL—Has been extremely quiet, at irregular prices, during the past week. The announcement of another auction sale (of 700 bales, or about 300,000 lbs. Cape Wool, for Tuesday, May 12,) has tended to check business.... In Boston, according to the Commercial Bulletin, sales were made of "175,000@200,000 lbs. domestic, at a range of 70c.@85c. for Fleece, and 75c.@90c. for Pulled, the latter figure for Billings and Rochester extra; 100,000 lbs. California sold at 41c.@42½c., as to quality. Foreign Wools have been very dull and unsettled, owing to the fluctuations in exchange, but our military disasters and threatened foreign complications have, within a day or two, imparted a firmer tone to the market. NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

We published yesterday, on the authority of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, a statement that Gen. Hooker again crossed the Rappahannock in force on Friday, his men carrying eight days' rations. We now have positive knowledge that this statement is true. The crossing was successfully accomplished, but at what point, or in what direction the army moved, is not at present known. But the most startling announcement made by the Bulletin is, that Gen. Keyes has taken Richmond, having advanced upon it from Yorktown, and that the National flag now floats over the rebel Capital. In part confirmation of this it is stated that ten thousand National troops arrived at Fortress Monroe on the 5th inst., and were immediately moved forward in the direction of Richmond. Further evidence is wanting to corroborate the report, however.

We have this morning, from our special correspondent who accompanied the expedition, full and important details of the great raid of our cavalry, under Gen. Stoneman, on the rebel communications in the rear of Lee's army, and connecting with Richmond. The results may be stated in a few words. The command of Gen. Stoneman was nearly nine days within the enemy's lines, visited nine different counties, destroyed all the lines of communication, so that they cannot be used again for weeks to come; destroyed the Lynchburgh Canal, captured several hundred horses, and destroyed a large quantity of public property—all with the loss of only two men killed and not over fifty wounded and taken prisoners, though several severe skirmishes took place. The negroes in the regions visited were of great service to our forces—acting as guides, and aiding them in every possible manner.

Gen. Grant has been successful almost beyond expectation in his new movement against Vicksburgh. His landing below Grand Gulf is already known. On Saturday a dispatch from him was received at the War Department, announcing that, after landing at Boulingsburgh on the 30th ult., he moved immediately on Port Gibson, four miles south of which place, on the morning of the 1st inst., he met the enemy, 11,000 strong. An engagement ensued, lasting all day, and resulting in the entire rout of the rebels, with the loss of many killed and about five hundred prisoners, besides the wounded. Our loss being about 100 killed and 500 wounded. The enemy thoroughly demoralized, retreated towards Vicksburgh, destroying two bridges on their way. These, however, were speedily rebuilt, and the pursuit was continued. Four cannon were captured, together with some stores. Gen. Grant says the country is broken and difficult to operate in. A dispatch, published yesterday, states that on Wednesday the main army was thirty miles up the Big Black River, marching on the rear of Vicksburgh, and the men enthusiastic at the prospect of speedy success.

We hear from our special correspondent, "Galway," full particulars of Admiral Porter's engagement with the rebel batteries at Grand Gulf on the 28th ult. The fight commenced about 8 o'clock in the morning, and lasted without intermission for five hours and forty minutes; commenced again at 7 o'clock in the evening, and was closed by darkness. During the latter engagement, as before stated, the transports conveying Gen. Grant's troops ran below in safety.

An official account from Gen. Grant of the progress of Gen. Grierson in his great cavalry raid on the enemy's communications in the rear of Vicksburgh, is given elsewhere. General and Meridian Railroad thirty miles east of Jackson at Newton; thence moved southward to ward Enterprise; thence to Hazelhurst, on the New-Orleans and Jackson Railroad; thence to Bahala, ten miles further south; thence eastward on the Natchez road, where he had a fight with rebel cavalry; thence back to the New-Orleans and Jackson Railroad to Brookhaven, ten miles south of Bahala, and when last heard from, he was ten miles further south, supposed to be making his way to Baton Rouge. He had destroyed a large portion of the two railroads, with bridges and locomotives; had taken many prisoners and destroyed a great amount of stores. Should he succeed in reaching Baton Rouge, he will have successfully accomplished the most extensive and important cavalry raid of the war—traversing almost the entire length of the State of Mississippi, and a portion of Louisiana.

The United States steamer Dudley Buck arrived at this port, yesterday, from Newbern, N. C., which place she left on the 6th inst. A report had reached Newbern that the North Carolina banks had refused to pay their assessment to the rebel Government, and that they were sustained in this refusal by Gov. Vance, who is said to have again threatened to recall the North Carolina troops in the rebel army. A number of rebel sympathizers were sent outside of Gen. Foster's lines, on the 6th. Gen. Heckman's brigade was expected to return again immediately to Gen. Hunter's Department. A battalion of the Third New-York cavalry made a reconnoissance on the 4th, during which they surprised and the camp of Capt. Wharton's rebel cavalry, with 36 horses, 14 prisoners, and the company arms and equipments. Two of the enemy were killed.

Information has been received at the War Department, stating that arrangements have been made for the return of the wounded of Gen. Hooker's army that fell into the hands of the enemy. They are now in houses near Chancellorsville. Medical supplies and attendants have been sent to them, and as soon as the river is [illegible] they will be brought to Gen. Hooker's camps, and will then be forwarded to the Washington hospitals, or their homes.

The Washington Star states that, on Thursday, 1,172 of the rebel prisoners captured in the late engagement near Chancellorsville, who were at the Soldiers' Rest, were sent off in a special train to Fort Delaware, under a guard of 417 men, of the Fourteenth New-Hampshire. There is a small number still remaining at the Rest, among whom are 85 who have taken the oath of allegiance, and expressed the desire to be allowed to remain within our lines. Of these, 3 hail from North Carolina, 73 from Mississippi, 30 from Louisiana, 9 from Alabama and 6 from Virginia. It is thought that many more would have followed their example, if it had not been for the ridicule of their comrades. Of those who still remain at the depot, more than one-fourth will take the oath.

The Morning Star, on her passage to this port, was overhauled by the Huntsville, of the United States blockading squadron, the Captain of which announced that during the twenty days preceding he had captured four blockade-runners.

We hear from Minnesota of a renewal of Indian troubles there. The difficulty this time is with a number of Chippewa chiefs, who refuse to sanction the treaty made at Washington last Winter, and threaten to kill all who signed it. This intelligence, together with the recent Indian murders on the Cottonwood River, has caused a stampede among the settlers between Abercrombie and Georgetown, and they are leaving for a safer locality.

GENERAL NEWS.

Yesterday the First, Fourth and Twentieth regiments New-York Volunteers arrived in this City, and were received by multitudes of citizens, military and civic, processions were formed, banners unfurled, salutes fired, and various manifestations of delight exhibited.

Rev. Dr. Cheever preached the annual sermon before the Church Anti-Slavery Society, at the Church of the Puritans, last evening, and condemned in strong terms the neglect of the Government to enforce the President's Emancipation Proclamation in its true spirit and meaning. It was evident, he thought, that there was a purpose among those in authority to evade it, and to restore the Union on its old basis, a result which he deprecated as most treacherous and disgraceful, and which would involve the wrath of the Almighty and the ruin of the nation.

The anniversary of the Female American Guardian Society took place at the Collegiate Church, corner of Fifth-avenue and Twenty-ninth-street, last evening. Four hundred children were present, and a sermon was preached by Rev. J. T. Duryea. The finances of the Society are in a prosperous condition.

On Saturday evening last, a man named James Costello was shot in Grand-street, near Centre, with a pistol, in the hands of Richard Jaynes, a resident of Kingston, Canada. Four balls were fired, all of which took effect in the head of Costello. The latter was immediately taken to the New-York Hospital, where he died soon after. Coroner Ranney held an inquest upon the body yesterday. Jaynes has been arrested and committed to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The Board of Councilmen held a special meeting at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to take suitable notice of the death of Mr. John Hogan, who died on Friday morning, and who was a member of the Board during the years of 1860, 1861 and 1862. The President, Morgan Jones, Esq., presented a preamble and resolutions, expressing the regret of the Board at the mournful event, tendering their sympathy to the family of the deceased in their bereavement, and in favor of the appointment of a Joint Special Committee to take charge of the obsequies; also, that the members of the Common Council would attend the funeral in a body, and ordering the resolutions to be engrossed and transmitted to the family of Mr. Hogan. The preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the Board adjourned. The funeral will take place at 2½ P. M. to-day, from the late residence of the deceased, No. 4 Bowling-green.

The boilers and engines of the gunboat Shenandoah, now building in Philadelphia, are about to be protected upon a plan of Chief Engineer Thomson, which the Navy Department has ordered to be tried on the Shenandoah. The vessel is to have an iron armor around the engines and boilers, and the workmen are busy making the patterns by which the different pieces are to be formed so as to fit the parts for which they are designed. The plan is said to meet the approval of some of the oldest officers, and if it proves successful, will no doubt be introduced in all of our steamers in which the machinery is exposed to injury from the enemy's shot.

The price of Gold Coin fell off 2½ ₩ cent. on Saturday. The Stock Market was buoyant, and prices on the Share list, in some instances, 4@5 ₩ cent. higher than on Friday. The sales of United States Stock of 1882 amounted to $1,617,750. Money in good employment on the Stock Exchange at 6@7 ₩ cent.

Breadstuffs and Provisions were quiet and depressed on Saturday. Groceries, Tallow and Whisky were less sought after. Salt and Saltpetre were in more demand. Cotton was very quiet, at lower and irregular prices. Moderate sales of Hay, Hides, Leather, Fruit and Foreign Liquors were reported. Lumber was in good request. Very light Freight engagements were effected. There were 537 vessels of all classes in port.

The Peace Movement—Note from Ex-Mayor Wood.

New-York, Saturday, May 9, 1863.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Permit me to correct the error contained in your article of this day which asserts that the proposed Peace movement has for its object "the organization of a party on the basis of immediate and unconditional peace."

There is no such purpose, as will be apparent when the call for a State Convention shall appear. I know of none who are in favor of "an unconditional peace." I am for peace as the only means of restoring the Union of the States, and am opposed to and shall resist by every legal and constitutional means the permanent division of the Confederacy.

Very respectfully, &c.,

FERNANDO WOOD.

We are very glad to make this correction. It affords still further evidence of the substantial unanimity of our people against a division of the Union. Ex-Mayor Wood, it is true, qualifies his protest by saying he shall resist the "permanent division of the Confederacy,"—leaving it to be inferred that he may, nevertheless, favor Ex-Recorder Smith's plan of assenting to a temporary separation in full faith that terms may then be made which will bring the two sections of the country together again. Such a resort would be simple madness, and could only end in what Mr. Wood professes to deprecate—permanent separation.

But these protests of the Mozart wing of the Democracy are valuable as showing that nobody at the North—not even the most clamorous and vehement advocates of peace—venture to countenance for a moment the idea of separation. They show that the sentiment of nationality is too strong with the people to permit even those who demand peace, who sympathize with the Secessionists and concede the substantial justice of the rebellion, to offend or tamper with it. The great mass of the people of the North and West are preserving the Union. They may differ toto coelo as to the means of accomplishing that object, and some of them may favor means which would render the end itself impossible; but they will not consent, under any circumstances, to the division of the Union and the destruction of the nation. That Ex-Mayor Wood and his associates understand this to be the dominant and inflexible determination of the people, is clearly shown by the respect they pay it in their own professions.

What sort of a peace this Peace movement does contemplate, we do not understand. Probably we shall know more about it when the call for the State Convention shall be issued. We understand that it will probably be held in this City at an early day.

From Gen. Hooker's Army.

The announcement in the Philadelphia Bulletin of Saturday, published in the Times of yesterday morning, naturally created intense interest in this City. Its leading points were that Gen. Hooker had recrossed the Rappahannock, and that Gen. Keyes had advanced upon and entered Richmond from Yorktown. A portion of this intelligence we know to be true. Gen. Hooker has transferred his army again to the south side of the Rappahannock, with the purpose beyond all doubt of at once resuming offensive operations. Probably he has been led to this step by intelligence of the complete success which attended the brilliant movement of Gen. Stoneman, which seems to have so far destroyed the communications of the rebel army with Richmond as to render the receipt of supplies for some days, if not weeks, quite impossible. If they were at all short of supplies at the time of the late battles, it is difficult to see how they can avoid the necessity of immediately falling back to some point much nearer their base.

This necessity will be doubly imperative if there is any truth in the reported movements of Gen. Keyes. The fact that the Government censor allowed the Bulletin's statement to be sent by telegraph to this City on Saturday night for publication in the journals of yesterday morning, is certainly entitled to some weight in favor of its probability. It is known that very heavy bodies of troops were brought from Suffolk last week to Fortress Monroe—whether for the purpose of reinforcing Hooker by way of the Potomac, or of advancing upon Richmond by way of the Pamunkey, is as yet unknown. But it is known that as long ago as on Wednesday last Col. Kilpatrick reached Yorktown with the news that there were no rebel troops in Richmond, and that the communications of that Capital with Lee's army had been interrupted—and Gen. Keyes, moreover, could easily learn from Washington—if the authorities chose to inform him by telegraph—that Hooker would engage Lee's attention on the Rappahannock long enough to permit him to make a flying visit to Richmond, even if he should not be able to prolong his stay. Whether all this has been done or not, we consider extremely doubtful:—we mention these circumstances to show that, with adequate enterprise and energy, it is not impossible.

Judgment of Military Generals—Hooker's Capacity for Command.

When warning the public, a few days ago, against extravagant expectations, and, above all, against extravagant language touching Gen. Hooker's capacity and possible achievements, we took occasion to say that his winning a battle in the movement which he was then commencing, would by no means prove that he was a great General, and would by no means entitle him to be compared to Napoleon the Great. We said that no single success, or even no half-dozen of successes, would prove that he was really the "coming man" for whose appearance we have been so long and so wearily waiting; that for this the successful conduct of a whole campaign would suffice, but nothing less.

But for the very same reason that one victory ought not to be regarded as final proof of capacity, one defeat ought not to be regarded as final proof of incapacity. It is just as foolish to denounce a man as an incompetent imbecile for one failure, as to laud him to the skies as an Alexander for one triumph, because both one and the other may be the result of accident. And yet this is the very thing that a large body of factious intriguers are now busily engaged in doing. The very men who never could find anybody to compare McClellan to but the victor of Lodi and Rivoli, because he won the "battle" of Cheat Mountain, have fully made up their minds that Hooker is incompetent because he was not victorious in the battle of Chancellorsville. The reasoning that brought them to the first conclusion was about as safe as that which led them to the last. In both cases it was vicious and absurd, and there can be no healthy public opinion about the progress of the war, or about the men who figure in it, as long as this style of criticism finds much countenance or favor among the people.

There is no better test of the capacity, either of a people, an oligarchy, or a monarchy, to carry on the government of a country, than its discrimination in the choice of its servants. Any governing body which not only does not know an able man from an imbecile, but shows that it does not know it, either by worshipping men who have achieved nothing great, or decrying men who have never been tried, is sure at last to be served by nobody but knaves and blockheads, for no others will put their character and talents into any such crucible.

We advocated confidence in and forbearance toward McClellan, until he closed the campaign of last Summer, over a year after he had assumed the command, by sticking fast in the mud at Harrison's Landing with the wreck of a noble army, to the grief and dismay—God grant we may never be able to add to the ruin—of this nation. The proof was then completed; he had done his best and his worst in the eyes of the world; and it was evident that whatever talents he might have in other directions, for that kind of rapid aggressive warfare which is always not only expedient but essential in suppressing a rebellion, he had no fitness whatever, either natural or acquired. We now ask for the same confidence and the same forbearance toward Gen. Hooker, until he shall have passed through an ordeal sufficient, whether long or short, to test his military capacity. We ask this not simply as an act of justice to him, but as something which is essential to the success of the campaign, if it is to succeed. Unless the Generals in charge of the operations in the field enjoy a fair amount of public sympathy and public confidence and coöperation, they would be more than human if, under such institutions as ours, they did their work well. It must be remembered—and this applies to McClellan as well as to Hooker—that the problem which the Generals of popular or constitutional Governments have to solve, is not simply how to beat the enemy in the field with a perfect army, perfect commissariat and perfect administration at their backs, but how to beat him with such an army as the country can supply, with such a Government as actually exists, and with such publicity, hostile criticism and divided responsibility, as are the inseparable concomitants of freedom. From most of these difficulties the General of an absolute monarch has not to suffer; but the General of a free people has to submit to them; and to tell us, therefore, that McClellan would be an excellent General if he could only have such an Administration at Washington as he would like, and only such comments on his career as he would approve of, is like telling us that a man would be a great musician if he had an ear. The Government, and the people, and the institutions, and the army, are what they are. They cannot be radically changed now, and the man who cannot conquer the South with such materials as can be had, cannot conquer it at all, and there's an end of it.

But it is none the less the duty of patriotic men to lessen all the difficulties of the task by every means in their power. In no way can they be lessened so much as by a frank and loyal trust in the honesty and capacity of the man who is charged with so terrible a responsibility as that of commanding a great army which carries on its bayonets the fortunes of a great empire. We cannot be too patient with him; we cannot speak too kindly or encouragingly to him, while he is laboring under the tremendous load; but neither patience nor forbearance happily need diminish our watchfulness by one iota, or our readiness to insist on his removal, if after a fair trial, his incompetence has been fairly proven.

Behind the Rebel Armies.

The two great cavalry raids that have been going on during the last fortnight, the one in Eastern Virginia and the other through the State of Mississippi, have completely uncovered the weakness of the rebels in some very vital points of the Confederacy. They have shown that, excepting the few chief points at which the rebel armies are immediately concentrated, the South is not only entirely bare of troops, but that it has been swept clean of the material out of which troops are made. There seems to be hardly an able-bodied white man out of butternut clothes in the Southern Confederacy. In the gallopade of Gen. Stoneman's troopers round in the rear of Fredericksburgh and down toward Richmond, ten counties were passed through—many of these formerly the most densely populated Counties in Virginia—and not only were there very few rebel troops in the region, but hardly a grown man was to be seen. There were women, children and negroes—a good many of the latter in uniform—but all the able-bodied men had been conscripted into the rebel army, and driven off to be food for gunpowder.

It is, perhaps, not so wonderful that this should be the case in Eastern Virginia, close to the rebel capital, and within range of Lee's army; but the far more extensive raid of Grierson through the State of Mississippi reveals the same condition of things in the Southwest.

The details of this latter expedition that we have given within the last three days from rebel sources, and the dispatch of Gen. Grant concerning it, exhibit it as having literally scoured Mississippi from right to left, and from top to bottom. We find it at Ripley and Houston, in the North; at Okolona, Artesia and Macon, in the East, on the line of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad; at Newton, on the Jackson and Meridian Railroad; then at Enterprise, in the East; then at Hazlehurst and Bahala, in the West, on the line of the New-Orleans and Jackson Railroad; then on the Natchez road, then back on the New-Orleans and Jackson Railroad; and "when last heard from," says Gen. Grant, "Grierson was three miles from Summit, ten miles from Brookhaven, and was supposed to be making his way to Baton Rouge!" And as he zigzagged and cavorted back and forth, up and down, through Mississippi. The point we desire to note is that, though with but a thousand men, Col. Grierson followed the lines of railroad and settlement through a State inhabited by 353,901 whites, and 437,404 blacks, there were not enough able-bodied men—there were not enough horsemen in a state renowned for horsemen—to stop his ravages or his triumphal ride. He seems to have taken his time in cutting roads, demolishing bridges, destroying supplies and capturing towns; he seems to have met with a few men here and there, whom he chastised at his leisure; and in the northern part of the State he found a body of rebel militia, who, says the Jackson Appeal, "broke and ran after the second fire;" but the whole country was almost completely denuded of able-bodied chivalry. The Jackson Appeal of the 28th ult. also says that the last then heard of the Yankee horsemen, they "were thirty miles east of Hazlehurst, from which they have a direct road to Natchez; and it is rumored by some that they will move to that city, where they can be protected by the gunboats until they can be crossed over the river." When it is remembered that Natchez is (or was) a city of nearly 7,000 people, it must be evident that there is not much of a fighting element left there, or a rebel journal would not talk of its being entered by a thousand Union cavalrymen. The same journal says that the "penetration of an enemy's country so extensively will be recorded as one of the greatest feats of the war," and that "after their late movements we are prepared to hear of their accomplishing anything except meeting a Confederate force that might capture them."

The self-evident inference, and the encouraging fact, to be gathered from all these circumstances, is that the rebels have all their fighting force in the field, and that, when their present armies are broken, the Confederacy will give us little more trouble. Its backbone will be very effectively broken.

The Eleventh Corps.

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN GEN. CARL SCHURZ AND GEN. HOWARD.

Headquarters Third Division, May 7, 1863.

Major-Gen. Howard, Commanding Eleventh Corps:

General: I find it stated in the papers—the New-York Times, the Washington Chronicle, the New-York Herald, etc.—that it was my division which, in the action of last Saturday, threw itself flying upon the rest of the corps, and it is even said in the New-York Herald that I "led the disgraceful flight in person." These are statements against which I feel myself obliged to ask for protection. You know the facts, and you have seen me in that engagement. I would respectfully request you to state what troops threw themselves flying upon the rest, and where I was, and what I was doing while you saw me on the field of battle. I am, General, yours, respectfully,

CARL SCHURZ, Major-General.

GEN. HOWARD'S REPLY.

Headquarters Eleventh Corps, May 8, 1863.

Gen. Schurz, Commanding Third Division:

I am deeply pained to find you subjected to such false and malicious attacks. I saw you just as the action commenced; you hastened from me to your post. I next saw you rallying troops near the rifle pits, upon the ground occupied by our corps. After this you were with me, forming a new line of battle near Gen. Berry's line. I do not believe that you could have done more than you did on that trying occasion. The allegations with reference to your division are untrue, since your troops did not occupy the front on the point of attack.

It would be improper for me at this time to speak relatively of the conduct of different divisions. My official report will soon be made.

It gives me pleasure to subscribe myself,

Yours truly,

O. O. HOWARD, Major-General.

We publish the above with great pleasure, merely remarking that, so far as the Times is concerned, Gen. Howard has neither warrant nor right to speak of anything we have published on this subject as "false and malicious." Our reporter stated what he believed, from his own observation and from the best information he could obtain, to be true. What he said was this:

"But to the disgrace of the Eleventh Corps, be it said, that the division of Gen. Schurz, which was the first assailed, almost instantly gave way. Threats, entreaties and orders of commanders were of no avail."

Gen. Howard states that "the division of Gen. Schurz did not occupy the front on the point of attack," leaving it to be inferred that it was not the "first assailed." Upon this point, if this inference is correct, our reporter was in error, and we gladly make the correction. That the division of Gen. Schurz did give way we take to be admitted—certainly it is not denied. That the General himself did everything in his power to arrest its flight, is clearly implied in our correspondent's original report.

Missouri.—A recent dispatch from the West mentioned that Gen. Price had gathered quite a number of white and red troops at Little Rock, and that he was mounting them, and preparing to enter Missouri, which he would do some time in May. We hope we are not going to have another panic in Missouri about Gen. Price; and we hope that, having warned the State fully, the State will take the warning. Missouri has 10,540 troops in the National service, embracing fourteen regiments of cavalry, one regiment of infantry and two batteries of artillery; and the return of the Enrolled Militia organized under call of the Governor, shows an aggregate strength of 52,056 men liable to be called out for the defence of the State. The latter force is the one that should now be organized and armed for home defence. They would be more than competent to thrash Price and all his force, though he and they were multiplied by ten. Let them be made effective for militia service, and let another Price-panic be avoided, by all means.

AMUSEMENTS.

The past week was an unfavorable one for Mr. Maretzek's operatic enterprise. Its opening was in dangerous proximity to the great "moving day," and its close, with the exception of Saturday, was moist and forbidding. Notwithstanding these circumstances the spirit of the manager was unflagging, and hence we had four splendid performances—three of them being of Verdi's new opera of "Aroldo," and the fourth of the same maestro's "Ernani." The company was heard to great advantage in these works. "Aroldo" is an opera that deserves to become a favorite with our public. It is well written, effective and popular in its character. Mr. Maretzek has produced it with great care; the dresses are thoroughly magnificent, and the scenery is as good as it can be had for love or money at the Academy. Altogether the work is a spectacle for the eye, as well as a treat for the ear. The matinée on Saturday was attended by a brilliant gathering of the fair sex. To-night Verdi's "Trovatore" will be played for the début of Miss Parker, a lady who appeared here some months since in a concert, and created a very favorable impression. Miss Parker has improved the interval in study and actual experience of operatic singing—having essayed the stage successfully in California. The present is of course an ordeal of greater gravity, but much is confidently expected of the lady. The principal artists of the troupe are in the cast.

Mr. J. S. Clarke has made a valuable addition to his side-splitting repertoire, in Planche's comic drama called "He's Jack Sheppard," produced on Friday night with complete success. The title almost explains the plot of the piece. The scene is laid in London during the period of the great housebreaker's most brilliant career. A simple-hearted cockney is mistaken for the renowned J. S., and hence arises a series of the most ludicrous situations, involving thieves and honest people and peals of uproarious laughter. In the end Simon Pureby succeeds in clearing up the mistake to the astonishment of all concerned—especially of the thieves. Slight in itself, this little drama is so excellently constructed, written and played that it keeps the house in a constant roar of merriment from beginning to end. Indeed, the managerial promise of "three hours of laughter" is more than fulfilled when this drama and "Paul Pry" are on the bills as they are to-night. In both works Mr. J. S. Clarke is seen to the greatest advantage, and is supported effectively by the members of the company.

One of the most enjoyable and important concerts of the season took place at Irving Hall on Saturday evening, when Mr. Theodore Thomas made his annual appeal to the good taste and intelligence of the community. The community (except the musical portion of it) was somewhat placid on the subject, but sent a sufficient representation to comfortably fill the hall, pay the expenses, and leave the beneficiare—the applause, which is about as much as the community usually does, when called upon for an effort. The programme was a model of brevity and substance; every piece in it was a gem. There were but six numbers. We place them on record: 1. Overture to the "Magic Flute," by Mozart; 2. Cavatina from "Tancredi," sung by Madame D'Angri; 3. "Harold in Italy," symphony in four parts, by Hector Berlioz; 4. Polonaise in E flat, op. 22, by Chopin, played by Mr. S. B. Mills; 5. Aria, from "Giuletta e Romeo," sung by Madame D'Angri; 6. Symphony No. 5 in C minor, opus 67, by Beethoven. We may say generally of this programme that it was interpreted in the best possible manner. The interest of the occasion was centred of course on the "Harold" symphony, played for the first time in America. It does not say much for our Philharmonic Society, that a work of such importance should remain neglected, until dragged forth by the private enterprise and art-enthusiasm of an individual. The expense of hiring a harp has probably deterred that generous corporation from having anything to do with it. Mr. Thomas not only faced this fearful responsibility, but engaged an orchestra of eighty players for the just interpretation of the symphony.

It is not easy to express a liking for Berlioz's muse—so strangely does it oscillate between the extremes of raving eccentricity and of colossal, but entirely inconsequential magnificence. His genius belongs to a sort of musical deluge, and what you find in it is interesting as a phenomenon of nature, like the megatherium or the ornithorynchus paradoxus. It is impossible to say why he has so much tail or so little fin, and one can readily believe that in a moment of excitement he could climb a tree or dive to the bottom of old ocean with equal facility. But that he has genius, is demonstrated by the fact that a number of respectable notorieties have been engaged for several years in stealing it. Berlioz has supplied the school of the "future" with the few ideas of which it can boast, and this work of "Harold" contains the materials for a dozen Liszts and Wagners. It is somewhat more coherent than others of the composer's large works. The plan is thoroughly dramatic, and the one idea of keeping the personality of Harold constantly before the audience, whilst the orchestra presents a dazzling succession of scenes in which that unhappy individual is a spectator, if not a participator, is excellently maintained by means of the Viola, representing the hero. Nor is the work destitute of the tangible merit of melody, although it is for broad and startling combinations of instruments, happy conceits of coloring, and massive and overwhelming effects of sonority, that it is most remarkable. It is in these latter respects that we perceive the hand of the master, and the daring invention of a man of genius. To say that the work is one of the most interesting of its sort, is feebly to express the pleasure that its fine performance on Saturday night afforded to the audience. Mr. Thomas conducted the orchestra with consummate ability, and Mr. Edward Mollenhauer played the viola with marked effect. Mr. Toulmin was the harpist. We are only sorry that the Harold Symphony cannot be repeated.

The announcements at the various places of amusements to-night are as follows: At the Academy of Music, Verdi's "Il Trovatore;" at Wallack's Theatre, the comedy of "Masks and Faces;" at Winter Garden, Mr. J. S. Clarke in the successful comic drama of "He's Jack Sheppard," and "Paul Pry;" at Laura Keene's Theatre, a strange entertainment of ballet, tight-rope dancing, and singing, under the direction of Jane English; at Niblo's Garden, Miss Bateman as Leah; at Barnum's, the Baby-show, and, in the Lecture-room, the domestic drama called the "Old House at Home."

Mme. De Lussan will give her annual concert at Dodworth's Saloon, on Tuesday evening, assisted by a host of talent.

The Musicians of the Metropolis (orchestral players) had their promised meeting on Wednesday last, and appointed a committee to inquire into the enormity of their wrongs and report on a remedy. The report need not be voluminous; three words, "raise the prices," will say all that it need say. Musicians are so scarce that they can afford to take the matter into their own hands, and dictate despotic terms to penurious managers, and grasping-hall conductors. Nor is the scarcity confined to New-York. It prevails everywhere—even in Europe. With regard to some instruments, indeed it amounts to an absolute dearth; violoncellos, oboes and bassoons are at a premium here and everywhere, and are in consequence complete masters of the situation. To them we suggest the propriety of a discriminating tariff in which they shall bag all the profit. Why should a bassoonist, who per se is almost as rare an Aztec, receive the same stipend as a miserable second desk fiddler, who can be picked up at every street corner; and what propriety or poetic justice is there in placing the bleating sentimentalist of the violoncello on the same level with the vulgar athlete who beats the drum? These things ought to be arranged. The scarce instruments and the leading ones of all sorts should certainly receive more than the second instruments, which require inferior technical ability in handling. At present they get the same. As to the general question of raising prices, it must, we think, be admitted, that musicians, as a rule, are greatly underpaid—especially at the theatres. This fact, indeed, accounts for their scarcity. It is no longer worth while to make a business of orchestral playing, when a man, by pursuing the healthy avocation of a bricklayer, can get $3 per week.

Signora Vestvali, a charming contralto, who will be remembered for her stately presence as much as for her talent as a singer, has returned to New-York, after a long sojourn in Europe. The lady intends, in combination with Mme. Rotter and other artists, to undertake a season of English opera at the Winter Garden, and will open in a fortnight with an anglicised version of Gluck's "Orpheus." Mr. Anschutz will, we learn, conduct the orchestra. The experiment is at least a bold one, and although it seems to us to be more than hazardous, we wish it all possible success. An English opera is certain to succeed, but we suspect it can only be done with English artists. Miss Jessie McLean, a young lady who sustained small singing parts at one of our City theatres some years ago, but who has since blossomed into a prima donna, will, we hear, make her reappearance during the season; and another on dit informs us that Mr. Edward Mollenhauer's new opera of "Rosa Gregorio" will be one of the early novelties of the campaign.

Mr. Carl Bergmann will shortly give a grand concert, at which the principal instrumental features will be Liszt's descriptive symphony labeled "Faust," the Introduction to Wagner's "Lohengrin," and the overture "Carnival Romain," by Berlioz. Mme. Bertha Johannsen and Mr. S. B. Mills assist as soloists. The concert takes place on Saturday, the 23d, at Irving Hall.

Mr. Scharfenberg, of the firm of Scharfenberg & Luis, music dealers, has been elected President of the Philharmonic Society. The choice is a good one, as far as routine is concerned, but Mr. Scharfenberg has been so long connected with the official administration of the Society that his rule as its head is not likely to be productive of innovations, or of those liberal changes that are demanded by the present mouldy condition of the organization.

Mr. R. Goldbeck will give a grand concert on Tuesday evening, May 19, at which his new symphony, called "Victoria," will be performed for the second time. The concert takes place at the Academy of Music.

The last series of Gottschalk concerts will commence at Irving Hall on Saturday next, the 16th of May, on which occasion there will be two performances, the first commencing at 12 o'clock, the other in the evening at 7½. It is for Mr. HANNOM's benefit—the spirited and liberal proprietor of the Hall—that this festival is arranged. A large number of artists, headed by Mme. D'ANGRI, will assist.

MESSRS. FIRTH, SON & CO., No. 563 Broadway, have just issued the following pieces of music: "Jenny June," ballad by FARRAR; "The Land of Mists and Heather Bells," song by ENOC C. WEBB; "Tremenade March," by LOUIS BRESS, (good;) "Dear Mother, I've Come Home to Die," song by HENRY TUCKER. (The melody is unusually good, but the words are conceived in the spirit of an undertaker and breathe the sentiment of a saxton. It must be a cheerful, social gathering where such hospital appeals find favor. "Teresa Schottisch, by GEORGE DANGER, (very easy and pleasant.)

CURES IN BROOKLYN.—To-night the "beautiful Cures" opens the Brooklyn Academy with the "French Spy." Her personation of the triple character is one of her most approved efforts, and the house should be crowded.

The Shakespearian Reading of Mrs. and Miss Bowen, at the Brooklyn Athenæum last week, was an eminent success in a literary and pecuniary sense of the term.

BARNUM'S ANNUAL.—To-day, at the Museum, Mr. BARNUM brings out his Annual Baby Show. He advertises over a hundred babies of all sorts and kinds but not of all colors. Adiposity, beauty and numerical abundance are the features which, in their extremes, will draw the premiums. All womandom will surely rush to see the babies, and all mankind will flock to the Museum to see the "clouds of (crinolined) witnesses" there assembled.

THE MURDER IN THE FOURTEENTH WARD.

The Coroner's Investigation.

Verdict of the Jury—Jealousy the Cause

JAMES COSTELLO, the man who was shot, in Grand-st., on Saturday evening last, by RICHARD JAYNES, died within a few hours after being taken to the New-York Hospital. Coroner RANKIN yesterday impanelled a jury, and proceeded to investigate the case. The following is the substance of all the material testimony given. It fully discloses the motives which induced JAYNES to commit the horrible deed:

Margaret Costello was the first witness examined. She testified as follows: I am the wife of James Costello, the deceased. I reside at No. 58 Perry-st. I was married twelve years ago yesterday, at the Vandewater-street Church. There has always been some difficulty between us on account of a difference in our religious belief; he was a Roman Catholic; the 4th of January last I found some letters in his pocket, from Kingston, Canada, signed "your heart-broken Mary Jane;" they were full of love and affection; in one of them she said, "I could not go to the boat with you; the old one watched me so close;" the night I found the letters he told me he would take a month in decoy, and take her out home; from which I understood him to mean that he would bring her on here, keep her a month, and then send her back; I have not lived with him from that time to this; about two weeks ago I heard that Mary Jane had been on here, and that he had gone to take her back; I did not know of the fact of her being here until last night; I should have shot my husband if I had seen him in company with this woman.

Mary J. Jaynes, the wife of the prisoner, testified that she resided at No. 51 Mulberry-street; she had been acquainted with James Costello, deceased, for the last ten months; she first saw him in Kingston, Canada; for several months past she had been living in the same house with deceased in this City, and occupying the same room; she had illicit intercourse with him for several months previous to his leaving Canada; he had always told witness that he was not married; witness was a married woman, and had been such for nearly eight years; Richard Jaynes, the prisoner, was her husband; the paper shown her was her marriage certificate; witness did not tell when she first left her husband; she had left him several times since their marriage; she left him because he threatened her life; on Saturday afternoon last, witness met her husband in the street, this was the first she knew of his being in the City; he immediately commenced to beat witness, and, while doing so, Costello, the deceased, came up; witness handed deceased a pistol; her husband then said, "Jim, I do not blame you one bit, but I blame her;" at the same time pulling witness by the arm, and saying "Will you go home with me?" to which witness replied, "I will never go home with you;" by this time a crowd had collected, and the police took both witness and her husband to the Tombs; Justice Dodge, after hearing the story of each, released the witness, and the latter did not see deceased again until she saw him dead at the hospital.

Michael Gallagle testified as follows: About six o'clock on Saturday evening I heard the report of a pistol, and saw a man fall in Grand-street, near Centre; I went to the place, and saw deceased lying on the walk, with blood running from his neck; immediately after I arrived at the spot the prisoner fired three more shots; an officer then came up, and we and I took hold of the prisoner; the latter then said "I am satisfied—he has committed a foul deed;" he further said that he had just met deceased on Broadway, and that deceased had treated him, by telling him they would talk; he meant by some other time; I am sure that the prisoner is the person who fired the pistol, and I recognize the pistol now produced as the one that he used upon that occasion.

John H. Wilson testified that he was standing near the corner of Elm and Grand streets, when he heard the report of a pistol; he looked in the direction from which the report came, and saw Costello lying on the walk, and Richard Jaynes, the prisoner, standing over him; and that he immediately afterward fired the pistol three times at deceased, the latter all the time lying upon the ground; a policeman then came up and arrested Jaynes; the latter made no effort to escape.

Silas Ketchum, of the Fourteenth Precinct, who made the arrest, testified to the fact that Jaynes fired three shots from his pistol after the deceased had fallen upon the sidewalk. The officer asked him why he had shot deceased, to which Jaynes replied—"He has seduced my wife, and now I am a happy man."

This concluded the testimony in the case; and Coroner RANKIN submitted it to the Jury, who, after a brief consultation, rendered the following verdict:

"We find that JAMES COSTELLO came to his death by pistol-shot wounds at the hands of RICHARD JAYNES, on the 9th day of May, 1863."

JAYNES was then asked the usual formal questions by the Coroner, in answer to which he said that he was 45 years of age, a native of England, and a carpenter and joiner by occupation. He further said that he shot deceased because he had taken away his wife and thereby deprived him of all the comforts he had in the world; that he tried to get some assistance from the police, but had failed in it, and that he was now in great agony of mind and crazy with his troubles.

The prisoner was then committed to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury. The deceased was a native of Ireland, and about 30 years of age. He was employed in the piano establishment of BACON & RAVEN, in Baxter-street. The four shots fired by the prisoner all took effect in the head of the deceased.

The prisoner's wife, MARY JANE, is a fine looking woman, of about 28 years of age. The affair caused so deep an impression upon her mind, that she determined to commit suicide, and for that purpose purchased a large quantity of poison at a late hour on Saturday night. Before she could accomplish her purpose, however, the police interfered, and took her to the station-house.

Wendell Phillips To-Night.

To-night, WENDELL PHILLIPS will speak at the Cooper Institute, on "The State of the Country." A crowded house will doubtless greet the orator, and an address replete with logic, wit and eloquence, will repay the closest attention.

Baptism of a Slave Child.

AFFECTING EPISODE AT PLYMOUTH CHURCH.

Yesterday, at Plymouth Church, was the regular Sabbath for the baptism of infants, and the delightful Spring morning tempted a larger number of parents than usual to bring their offspring forward. Having administered the rite to all but one of the children, Mr. BEECHER paused a moment, and, turning to his interested audience, stated that there was still another child to be christened. Her history, however, contained a moral, and he should take the liberty of carrying her upon the platform where all present might look upon her features. This preface caused a flutter of increasing interest, which was not abated until the reverend gentleman had ascended the pulpit steps, bearing in his arms a little laughing-eyed, sweet-faced, fair-haired girl of five years, who nestled closely against his breast, toying with his watch-guard, as she timidly met, with her dark, lustrous eyes, the concentrated gaze of the now hushed congregation. In a voice tremulous and tearful, and in words that touched a sympathetic chord in the hearts of his hearers, Mr. BEECHER told about the child. "She was born in Slavery," he said; "A benevolent woman, who was nursing our sick soldiers in the hospital at Fairfax, found her, sore and tattered and unclean, and requested the good sister who has adopted her, to bring her North and take care of her. She will be treated as this lady's own child, and it is designed to educate her as a teacher for her race. Look upon this child," continued Mr. BEECHER, "and tell me if you ever saw a fairer, sweeter face? And this child," he added, "is a sample of the Slavery which absorbs into itself everything fair and attractive. The loveliness of this child would only make her so much more valuable as a chattel; for while your children are brought up to fear and serve the Lord, this little one, (for as beautiful, would he mean, through Slavery, a child of damnation. The whole force of my manhood revolts and rises up in sanity against such institution that cruelly exposes such children to be sold like cattle. (Loud applause.) Look upon this child," he repeated in conclusion, "and take away with you an impression of her beauty, and remember to what a shocking fate Slavery would bring her. May God strike for our armies and the spirit that this accursed thing may be utterly destroyed." (Renewed applause.)

Mr. BEECHER then baptized the child FANNY VICTORIA CASSENTIA LAWRENCE, the last name being that of the lady who adopted her. He announced afterward, that although this good lady was in moderate circumstances, and was quite willing to bear unaided the burden that she had assumed, yet, if any present desired to contribute to defray the expense of educating the child, the privilege would be given. In response, at the conclusion of the services, the donations were quite liberal. Plymouth Church is eminently the place of extraordinary incidents, but probably never before has an episode so stirred and affected the congregation.

THE TRIAL OF C. L. VALLANDIGHAM.

The Charge and Specifications Against Him.—Vallandigham's Protest.

From the Cincinnati Commercial, May 9.

The trial of Mr. VALLANDIGHAM having been concluded, it will not be improper now to publish the charges and specifications against him.

CHARGE.

Publicly expressing, in violation of General Orders No. 38, from Headquarters, Department of the Ohio, his sympathies for those in arms against the Government of the United States, declaring disloyal sentiments and opinions, with the object and purpose of weaking the power of the Government in its efforts to suppress an unlawful rebellion.

SPECIFICATION.

In this, that the said CLEMENT L. VALLANDIGHAM, a citizen of the State of Ohio, on or about the 1st day of May, 1863, at Mount Vernon, Knox County, Ohio, did publicly address a large meeting of citizens, and did utter sentiments, in words or in effect as follows, declaring the present war "a wicked, cruel and unnecessary war;" a war not being waged for the preservation of the Union, but a war for the purpose of freeing the Slaves, and creating a Republic; a war for the freedom of the blacks and the enslavement of the whites; stating that if the Administration had so wished the war could have been honorably terminated months ago; that peace might have been honorably obtained by listening to the proposed intermediation of France; that "propositions by which the Southern States could be won back, and the South guaranteed their rights under the Constitution, had been rejected the day before the late battle by President Lincoln;" by LINCOLN and his minions, meaning thereby the President of the United States and those under him in authority. Charging that the Government of the United States were about to appoint Military Masters to govern DISTRICTS, meaning thereby the people of their liberties, or deprive them of their rights and privileges." Characterizing General Order No. 38, from Headquarters Department of the Ohio, as "a base usurpation of arbitrary authority;" inviting his hearers to resist the same by saying, "the sooner the people inform the authors of this notice that they will not submit to such restrictions upon their liberties, the better;" declaring "that he was at all times, and upon all occasions resolved to do what he could to defeat the designs now being made to establish a despotism upon the ruins of our free Government;" asserting "that he firmly believed as the war had lasted one year ago, that the men in power are attempting to establish a despotism in this country more cruel and more oppressive than ever existed before."

All of which opinions and sentiments he will know did aid, comfort and encourage the enemies of the Government, and could not fail to induce in his hearers a distrust of their own Government and sympathy for those in arms against it, and a disposition to resist the laws of the land.

(Signed) ROBERT L. ALLEN, Major U. S. Army, Capt. in 11th Infantry, Judge Advocate, Department of the Ohio.

MR. VALLANDIGHAM'S PROTEST.

Arrested without process of law, without warrant from any judicial officer, and now in military custody, I have been served with a charge and specifications as from a Court-martial or Military Commission. I am not either the land nor the naval service of the United States, and therefore am not triable by any tribunal of the army, but am subject, by the express terms of the Constitution, to arrest only by due process of law, or warrant issued by some officer or a court of competent jurisdiction for trial of offenses. I am subject to indictment and trial on presentment of a grand jury, and entitled to a speedy trial; to be confronted with witnesses, and to compulsory process for witnesses in my behalf, and am entitled to counsel. All these I demand, as my right, as a citizen of the United States, under the Constitution of the United States. That the alleged offense itself is not known to the Constitution of the United States, is this: words spoken to the people of Ohio in an open public political meeting, lawfully and peacefully assembled under the Constitution, and upon full notice.

It is the verdict of a citizen of the public policy of the public servants of the country by which policy it was alleged that the welfare of the country was not promoted. It was an appeal to the people to change that policy, not by force, but by the elections and the ballot-box. It is not pretended that I counseled disobedience to the Constitution, or resistance to law or lawful authority. I have never done this.

I have nothing further to submit.

(Signed) C. L. VALLANDIGHAM.

MAY 7, 1863.

The Judge Advocate simply remarked that the accused had the privilege of counsel and of witnesses. It did not become him to enter into any discussion as to the jurisdiction of the Court. That the case had been referred to it was sufficient.

Reported Capture of National Cavalry in Georgia.

MURFREESBORO, Saturday, May 9.

Rebel reports from Chattanooga of the 7th say that the force sent from this army under Col. SHAFNER, of the Fifty-first Indiana regiment, have been captured near Rome, Georgia, after five skirmishes with the enemy. This force was co-operating with Gen. DODGE from Corinth.

Full credence is not placed in this report, as we have nothing from Gen. HEALBUT on the subject. Even if this be true, SHAFNER ought to have captured rebels even to the number of his own force, beside doing immense damage to the country through which he penetrated.

NOISES IN THE HEAD,

Diseases of the Eye, Ear & Throat,

CATARRH CURED

BY

DR. VON EISENBERG.

Author of "Surgical and Practical Observations on the Diseases of the Ear, with his new Mode of Treatment."

NEW TESTIMONY.

"NEW-YORK, May 8.

I was entirely deaf in my left ear, accompanied by a discharge. I placed myself under Dr. VON EISENBERG's care, who, by his great skill, restored me to perfect hearing, in the short space of a few minutes, without giving me the slightest pain, and the discharge has ceased entirely. The Eustachian Tube, which was obliterated, is quite open, and I feel that the air-passage performs its functions. I am amply satisfied, and recommend every one suffering from impaired hearing to place themselves under the treatment of this eminent and successful physician.

THOMAS GRANAN, No. 539 6th-av."

"NEW-YORK, May 7, 1863.

I have great pleasure in testify to the skill of Dr. VON EISENBERG. I went into his office almost completely deaf, and came out with my perfect hearing. It is nearly twelve months since, and the hearing is perfect. The operation, which lasted two or three minutes in each of my ears, gave me no pain whatever. I, with confidence, recommend all sufferers to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG's unsurpassing skill.

SAMUEL C. HUNT,

No. 4 Meserole-av., Greenpoint, L. I."

WEST HOUSTON-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg; but it must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

No. 188 MERCER-ST., NEW-YORK.

J. E. VON EISENBERG, M.D.—Dear Doctor: I have been afflicted with total deafness, and was induced to pay you a visit. No one can imagine my delight when, after one operation, my hearing was suddenly, and without pain, restored to me, for which I feel very grateful. After being totally deaf—almost shut out from the pleasure of being of mutually social—to have it returned, and to hear so distinctly, reflects great credit on you for the immense amount of skill you possess. They to thank you for what I can so truly appreciate. I am, Sir, your obedient servant.

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ

NEW-YORK, March 26, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional flushes of a general character, night and day, so much so, that sometimes I thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure, I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the City, possessing as he does, the most skillful and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend those suffering from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

ROMAINE'S CRIMEAN BITTERS.

The following certificates from those well known and eminent chemists, Drs. J. R. Chilton and J. G. Pohle, will show in what estimation it is held by those most competent to judge of its merits:

CERTIFICATE.

NEW-YORK, Feb. 14, 1863.

From a knowledge of the ingredients and their properties entering into the composition known as "Romaine's Crimean Bitters," we are enabled to speak of it in terms of high commendation. Peruvian bark being one of its principal constituents, together with herbs, roots and extracts having decided medicinal properties, we have no hesitation in recommending it to Druggists and the public generally as an invigorating tonic, intended to stimulate the digestive organs.

From its alterative properties, it is calculated to prevent, by its daily use in moderate quantities, constipation, dyspepsia and ague, mild forms of neuralgia and rheumatism. It is an antidote to the effects produced by change of water and diet, correcting diarrhœa, curing dyspepsia, colic, sick and nervous headache, nausea, sea-sickness. It is expressly adapted to females of delicate constitutions and the infirmities of age.

This preparation is composed exclusively of vegetable materials, containing no metallic or mineral substances whatever. Its taste is aromatic, warming, and acceptable to the palate and stomach.

JULIUS G. POHLE, M. D.

Third—Of billiard tables kept for use or hire.

Fourth—Of yachts or pleasure vessels, and their value.

Fifth—Of the amount of your income for the year ending Dec. 31, 1862.

Every species of income received between Jan. 1 and Aug. 31, 1862, will be subject to tax. After Aug. 31, 1862, income derived from dividends of stock in any bank, insurance company, savings institution, trust company, railroad, railroad bonds, steamboat, ferry-boat or bridge, which have deducted 3 per cent. tax from dividends paid, will be exempt from tax, except in the cases of those whose income reaches $10,000 a year, in which instances an additional tax of 2 per cent. will be laid upon their income from dividends.

Guardians and trustees, whether such trustees are so by virtue of their office as executors, administrators, or other fiduciary capacity, are required to make return of the income belonging to minors or other persons, which may be held in trust, as aforesaid.

The net gains or profits of manufacturers are to be taxed under section 90 of the law. The exemption contained in the original statute was removed by the amendment of March 3, 1863.

Farmers will return the value of the products of their farms.

Persons are to be taxed on income at their residences. Business firms must estimate their gains for the year 1862, and make such division thereof as will enable each member of the firm to make return at his or her own residence.

A wife holding in her own right property not subject to her husband's control may make return of income from the same.

In estimating income from rents, the cost of necessary repairs, insurance, and interest on incumbrances may be deducted. The cost of extraordinary repairs, new structures, &c., cannot be deducted.

The following deductions will also be made from the aggregate income of any person, viz.: State and local taxes of the calendar year, January 1, 1862, to December 31, 1862, rent actually paid for dwelling-house, and in case a person owns his house, interest on the incumbrances thereon and cost of necessary repairs, and in all cases the sum of $600, also the amount actually paid by any farmer or planter for hired labor and necessary repairs upon his farm or plantation, including the subsistence of laborers.

M. on TUESDAY, the 12th of May, 1863, for furnishing DESICCATED AND COMPRESSED MIXED VEGETABLES, for issue to the United States army for twelve months from the first of November next, at the rate of one hundred and thirty-five thousand pounds per month.

The ingredients of the mixed vegetables furnished under the contracts of the current year are as follows, viz.: To each one hundred pounds of the mixed vegetables, twenty pounds of potatoes, twenty-two pounds of white turnips, twenty-two pounds of carrots, ten pounds of cabbage, ten pounds of onions, five pounds of string beans, five pounds of tomatoes, one pound of celery or parsley, and five pounds of rice. As the mixture can undoubtedly be improved by diminishing the quantity of some of the coarser vegetables and increasing some of the others, as well as by introducing some vegetables not heretofore used, proposers are invited to send in proposals with accompanying samples, not only of the mixture as above given, but also of other mixtures, varying therefrom according to the experience and judgment of the proposer, with a view of effecting an improvement in this article of military supply. Proposers are required to give the exact proportions of the different ingredients of their several samples, with price per pound of each, packed as required. When it is practicable, each of the vegetables in a separate state, and after desiccation, will be submitted for inspection. Only those parts of each vegetable commonly used as food will be accepted for the mixture.

The mixed vegetables are to be very compactly compressed into cakes of seven pounds each, ten of these cakes being packed in a tin or zinc box, made air-tight, with two of these boxes packed in a wooden box made of suitable seasoned stuff, not less than five-eighths of an inch thick, with sunken ends one inch thick, strengthened with outside lining pieces. Boxes to be strapped with hickory at the ends.

Proposals must, so far as practicable, be accompanied with at least one box as above described, with contents of the proposer's own manufacture of each of the mixtures he may offer to furnish.

The location of the manufacturing establishment must be stated.

There being a choice among the different varieties of vegetables, proposers will state with precision the especial varieties they use, or propose to use, in their mixtures.

Each bid, to have consideration, must contain the written guarantee of two responsible names, as follows:

The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 13 Laight-st., New-York.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED AND THOSE ABOUT TO BE MARRIED.—Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, has just published the 150th edition of the valuable book, entitled "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose peculiar circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York; or can be sent by mail, free of postage to any part of the United States and Canada, by inclosing $1, and addressing Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, New-York Box 4,782. H. H. RICHARDSON, at No. 1 Tremont-st., (Astor House,) and No. 13 Ann-st.; FEDERHEN & CO., 13 Court-st., Boston.

DR. WARD'S MAGICAL INVIGORATORS, IN the form of Pills, will, in fifteen minutes after being taken, make the recipient as vigorous as if nature had never been retarded or debilitated. To the married or single, in every hopeless contingency, this unrivaled medicine is earnestly recommended as a cordial to invigorate the nervous system where manhood has been impaired. Procured of Dr. WARD, No. 13 Laight-st., near Canal. Call or send for circulars.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in cases of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases; warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchase directly of Dr. POWERS, No. 13 Laight-st., New-York.

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP RESTORES the vigor of youth in four days. Lozenges mailed to the sexes, prepaid, $1 a box. No. 4 Davis-st., New-York, the only place. Beware of spurious imitations. The City at large knows, as a rule, every man is sob-tim of his great reputation as a skillful and reliable physician. He has no other office but No. 4 Dividend-st., near the Bowery. Eight separate rooms and a private entrance.

ADVICE TO LADIES.—IN ALL CASES where unfailing cures are desired, or medical treatment that never fails, call upon Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, author of "The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion," who treats female complaints exclusively. Office, No. 129 Liberty-st.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY LADY.—DR. WARD'S Great Female Benefactor or Golden Regulating Pills. This is invigorating, regulating and removing all obstructions, from whatever cause, and they will never disappoint the anxious patient. Office, No. 13 Laight-st., where Dr. WARD can be consulted, confidentially, day and evening.

SULPHUR AND VAPOR BATHS.—ESTABlished in 1830.—The only genuine baths in the United States, at No. 1 Carroll-place, Bleecker-st., corner of Laurens. For cure of rheumatism, neuralgia, skin diseases, &c. Given daily by Dr. A. L. TIMOLAT & CO.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain cases, where regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every civilized country of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some patient who has exhausted the skill of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so extensive that he is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attempted it, and when they find they, for the not so easily swallowed, they then resort either to their own make of it, or to a spurious compound obtained under false pretences. Office, No. 4 Dividend-st., Book for 15 stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations, 25c. The best work out.

AMUSEMENTS.

WINTER GARDEN.
THIRD WEEK OF THE DOUBLE BILL.
OF THE
SEASON OF MERRIMENT.
On MONDAY EVENING, May 11,
in consequence of the enthusiastic applause and delights with which the young comedian,
Mr. J. S. CLARKE, was received on Friday and Saturday, by overflowing Houses, in his great comic impersonation of
PAUL PRY,
SIMON PUREFOY
AND JACK SHEPPARD,
the same entertainment, so replete with fun and gaiety, will be repeated.
MONDAY NIGHT,
Planche's new comic drama of
HE'S JACK SHEPPARD,
and the uproariously funny standard comedy of
PAUL PRY.
Both pronounced
A GLORIOUS SUCCESS!
"This house was crowded last evening with a very fashionable audience, for the benefit of Mr. J. S. Clarke. The plays were 'Paul Pry,' and a new comic trifle, by Planche, called 'He's Jack Sheppard.' We have never seen Paul Pry better performed.—The audience was kept in a constant roar of laughter. The plot of 'He's Jack Sheppard' is expressed by the title. The scene is laid in London. Simon Purefoy, a simple-hearted cockney, is taken for Jack Sheppard. A number of complicating incidents ensue. Thieves and honest folks are alike deceived. Mr. Clarke defeats the former, rescues the latter, and elicits continued laughter and applause from the delighted audience. The piece was a great success, and will be repeated every evening.
Mr. J. S. Clarke's benefit last night at this theatre was attended by an audience as fashionably large and enthusiastic to make it the most successful event of the season. The performance of 'Paul Pry' produced an unusual effect for no farcical a piece. Mr. Clarke being called before the curtain to receive the strongest possible compliments of the house, and the new farce, 'He's Jack Sheppard,' the drollery of which is especially suited to Mr. Clarke's comic power, was received with such fame as to render its frequent repetition indispensable."—New-York Tribune.

Our Main Army Marching to the Rear of Vicksburgh.

Col. Grierson's Great Raid on the Vicksburgh Communications.

Our Special Correspondent's Account of the Naval Battle at Grand Gulf.

OFFICIAL DISPATCH FROM GEN. GRANT.

GRAND GULF, May 3, 1863, via MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 7.

Maj.-Gen. Halleck, General-in-Chief:

We landed at Bruinsburgh, April 30th, moved immediately on Port Gibson, met the enemy, 11,000 strong, four miles south of Port Gibson, at 2 A. M. on the 1st inst., and engaged him all day, entirely routing him with the loss of many killed, and about 500 prisoners, besides the wounded. Our loss is about 100 killed and 500 wounded.

The enemy retreated toward Vicksburgh, destroying the bridges over the two forks of the Bayou Pierre. These were rebuilt, and the pursuit has continued until the present time.

Besides the heavy artillery at this place, four field pieces were captured and some stores, and the enemy were driven to destroy many more.

The country is the most broken and difficult to operate in I ever saw.

Our victory has been most complete, and the enemy are thoroughly demoralized. Very respectfully,

U. S. GRANT, Major-General Commanding.

COL. GIERSON'S CAVALRY RAID.

OFFICIAL DISPATCH FROM GEN. GRANT.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 9.

The following has been received at the headquarters of the army:

GRAND GULF, Miss., Wednesday, May 6, via CAIRO, Friday, May 8.

Maj.-Gen. Halleck, General-in-Chief:

I learn that Col. GRIERSON with his cavalry has been heard of, first about ten days ago in Northern Mississippi.

He moved thence and struck the railroad thirty miles east of Jackson, at a point called Newton's Station.

He then moved southward toward Enterprise, demanded the surrender of the place, and gave one hour's grace, during which Gen. LOMMING arrived.

He left at once and moved toward Hazlehurst, on the New-Orleans and Jackson Railroad. At this point he tore up the track.

Thence he pushed to Bahala, ten miles further south, on the same road, and thence eastward on the Natchez road, where he had a fight with WIRT ADAMS' cavalry.

From this point he moved back to the New-Orleans and Jackson railroad to Brookhaven, ten miles south of Bahala, and when last heard from he was three miles from Summit, ten miles south of Brookhaven, and was supposed to be making his way to Baton Rouge.

He had spread excitement throughout the State, destroying railroads, trestle-works and bridges, burning locomotives and railway stock, taking prisoners, and destroying stores of all kinds.

U. S. GRANT, Major-General.

IMPORTANT REPORTS FROM MEMPHIS.

CAIRO, Sunday, May 10.

The Memphis Bulletin of last evening has the following:

Six newspaper correspondents (COLBURN, of the World; RICHARDSON and BROWN, of the Tribune; McCULLOUGH, of the Cincinnati Commercial; BEATTY, of the Gazette, and DORMAN, of the Chicago Tribune,) were on the tug destroyed by hot shot from the Vicksburgh batteries on Sunday. There were twenty persons aboard. Only one is known to have escaped. Nothing had been heard of the remainder at Milliken's Bend up to Tuesday night. If they reached either shore they were probably captured, as the rebels occupied the point of the peninsula at the time of their having crossed over, for the purpose of intercepting any barges that might be floating down.

The Bulletin also says that GRANT has sent 1,900 prisoners to Milliken's Bend. A portion of his forces, when last heard from, were within twenty miles of Jackson, and had taken several days' rations with them. It was reported that the bridge over the Big Black Bayou had been destroyed, thus cutting off the rebel retreat from Vicksburgh.

THE NAVAL BATTLE AT GRAND GULF

The Preliminary Movements—Transportation of the Army from Milliken's Bend—Details of the Engagement at Grand Gulf—Passage of the Batteries by Transports—Casualties, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

OPPOSITE GRAND GULF, La., Wednesday, April 29, 1863.

The route from Milliken's Bend to this point, as constructed by our forces, is in the highest degree complimentary to their ingenuity and perseverance. The entire distance, by land, is about sixty miles, and for the greater portion of its length it has been constructed across swamps that at first sight would seem impassible for anything, save alligators or other amphibious denizens of the country. Mile after mile of timber has been chopped down to admit the passage of wagons; corduroy roads have been thrown across morasses of a seemingly endless width; wide, swift bayous have been bridged, causeways thrown up, heights leveled, and in short a labor performed whose equal as to magnitude and difficulty has scarcely been performed during this war.

As may generally be known, the object of constructing this route was to enable us to pass around Vicksburgh with a view of reaching it from some point below. All the other approaches of Vicksburgh had been experimented upon—last Fall GRANT tried them on the east, and during the last six months SHERMAN, GRANT, PORTER, ROSS and others have tested them from the northwest—in fact from every imaginable point of the compass, save the one upon which we are now moving. So far the armor of Vicksburgh has been found proof—in no place have we been able to find a joint.

I need not trouble you with full details of my journey from Milliken's Bend to this point. I left there on horseback day before yesterday and reached here this evening, making the distance of [illegible] in twenty-four hours.

Among rich but deserted plantations; between fragrant hedges, gorgeous with the bloom of the blackberry and honeysuckle; through groves, heavy with dark, green beauty, and thrilling with the songs of birds; by rich, white mansions, from whose cool verandahs dark faces looked scowlingly at our passage; over bridges and bayous [illegible] by [illegible] [illegible] of infantry and pieces of artillery, laboring painfully through the mud—here a dead mule, there a wrecked and deserted wagon—now toiling through long miles of mire, whose surface had been raised into miniature mounts and hollowed into valleys by the thousand wheels of artillery and baggage trains, and again cantering along the bordered surface of some bayou levees, I passed, until, just at sundown, when thoroughly exhausted, I reached the camp of an old friend, and found in abundance the supplies necessary to restore wearied man and beast.

The road from Milliken's Bend leads over to Richmond, crosses Roundaway Bayou, and follows the windings of Vidal Bayou (its continuation) until it reaches the river, some ten miles below New-Carthage. From this point some of our troops followed the windings of the river, until they arrived opposite Grand Gulf, some fifteen miles below. Many of the regiments marched the entire distance from Milliken's Bend to Grand Gulf; others were taken on transports to New-Carthage, and others again at Perkins' Plantation, the point where Vidal Bayou empties into the Mississippi.

For some weeks our forces have been gradually moving in this direction with a view to operations against Grand Gulf, or some other adjacent point where a landing could be obtained on firm ground. The division of Gen. OSTERHAUS led the advance, and by easy marches finally reached Perkin's Plantation, at the mouth of Vidal Bayou, where they remained, and soon after were joined by the divisions Gens. CARR, A. J. SMITH, LOGAN and QUINBY.

The proprietor of Perkin's Plantation was evidently a man of great wealth and refinement, to which he added the quality of treason in its broadest sense. When our forces took possession of New-Orleans, he evinced his love of the Confederacy by setting fire with his own hands to the beautiful mansion and its outbuildings, after which he took his family, negroes and other portable pelf and departed for the interior of Dixie.

Some fifteen or twenty miles below Perkin's Plantation, is a small landing known as Coffee's Point, named after Mayor COFFEE, a former resident and original settler of the place. Directly opposite this is the mouth of Big Black River, and in full view are the fortifications of Grand Gulf. It is from Coffee's Point that this letter is being written; and the place, within the last forty-eight hours, has assumed proportions of importance, from the fact that from here the initiatory steps of offensive operations against Grand Gulf were taken.

As seen from here, the fortifications across the river are built just above the level of the river, upon a sort of bluff promontory, which juts out at the confluence of the Big Black and Mississippi. To pass down the latter stream, a steamer, in following the channel, has to go straight toward the batteries until within very short range, when, turning short to the right, and passing parallel with the works, goes on down the river. In fact the position of the river and defenses are very much as at Vicksburgh; there is the same long peninsula opposite, by which boats in passing are forced to approach close under the guns of the fortification.

To reduce this was the first thing to be attempted, and with a view to that end a large force was sent down, night before last, to this point. During the night the transports were filled with troops, and held ready for crossing in case the gunboats, the next day, should succeed in silencing the batteries.

The plan, in substance, of yesterday's operations was, that the gunboats should take certain positions, endeavor to silence the guns, which being done, the transports were to cross, land the forces who were to hold the place. The programme was simple, but failed in one or two material points.

The fight commenced about 8 o'clock, and lasted without intermission for five hours and forty minutes, recommenced at 7 in the evening, and was closed by darkness. The general plan of the fight was that the gunboats should pass up and down the batteries, in order to present as bad a mark as possible for the rebel artillerymen. Four of the gunboats started down in advance, and moving up to within about four hundred yards, then stopped, and engaged the battery on the extreme point. The work mounted three guns, one of which is a 100-pounder, and all of which are heavily casemated. The fire of the four gunboats was promptly returned by the battery by a fire that was precise and rapid. After a short exchange, the four boats moved slowly down, waking up batteries at short intervals for a full mile. They were followed by the other three iron-clads, led by the Lafayette, each as it passed working its broadside as fast as possible.

Before these boats passed down, the Lafayette ran into the eddy formed by the Big Black, and with her 100-pound rifle, poured an enfilading fire into the battery, which proved so hot that it compelled the rebels to materially lessen their fire.

From this time till the close, the gunboats moved constantly, passing the batteries, pouring into each their fire as they passed. The roar of the guns was terrific, and so continuous that it sounded almost like an unbroken roll of thunder. For awhile, the eye as well as ear would take in the scene, but soon great clouds of smoke rose, met above, and shut out the scene.

One of your correspondents, who was with the fleet, will give you particulars, so I need not enter upon them at length.

Many of the boats were severely "punished," some not at all. The Tuscumbia, a turreted iron-clad, was completely riddled in every portion not protected by plating. Her chimneys were perforated until they resembled huge graters, and her woodwork torn and splintered in every conceivable shape. Her turrets alone, in their thickest parts, were able to resist the projectiles hurled against her. She was finally disabled by a shot that cut one of her hog chains, by which, in river phrase, she was "broken in two."

The Lafayette was struck a number of times, but was not in the slightest degree injured. She has shown herself the most formidable as well as invulnerable vessel of the fleet. The extent to which the others were injured may be inferred from the appended list of casualties:

Benton.

Killed........ 4
Wounded........ 21

Tuscumbia.

Killed........ 4
Wounded........ 22

Pittsburgh.

Killed........ 7
Wounded........ 18

Of these killed and wounded there was but one officer—an infantry Lieutenant on the Tuscumbia, who was literally blown to pieces by a shell, while in the act of sighting his rifle at a rebel sharpshooter.

The batteries were all silenced save the upper one, and this to an extent that prevented it from firing only at long intervals. The entire number of batteries was ten, each of which mounted from three to five guns, and were in the main worked by negro troops. It is thought that at the time our gunboats hauled off that the infantry possibly might have taken the works, although such may not have been the case.

Last evening the boats again engaged the batteries, and found them all in working order. During the engagement the transports ran below in safety, having first landed their troops. To-day they are engaged in ferrying the troops across the river, beginning at a point about three miles below Grand Gulf, and landing some six miles lower down. One division has already crossed, and the others are under way. Their destination is probably Port Gibson, a railroad station some thirteen miles from the river.

From this point rebel regiments can be seen filing down from Grand Gulf in the direction of the point at which our troops are being landed. A fight may be expected to take place at any moment.

I write in haste, as a messenger is just ready to leave for Milliken's Bend. GALWAY.

Movements of Massachusetts Troops.

BOSTON, Sunday, May 10.

The Second battalion of the Second Massachusetts cavalry are under orders to leave for the seat of war on Tuesday next.

The Fifty-fourth Massachusetts (colored) is full, and expect shortly to enter active service. A second colored regiment, the Massachusetts Fifty-fifth, has been started, with a favorable promise of soon filling up.

THE RETURNING REGIMENTS.

The Arrival in this City of the First, Fourth and Twentieth New-York Volunteers.

They are Welcomed by an Immense Throng.

Soldiers, Firemen and Civilians in the Procession.

A SALUTE FIRED FROM THE BATTERY.

From early sunrise yesterday morning till long past the small hours of evening this Metropolis was kept in a constant whirl of excitement, by the appearance on the streets of military and civic pageants, the beating of drums, the sounding of trumpets, the blazonry of banners and the firing of cannon. Not for a long period has New-York witnessed such an eventful Sunday. It seemed as though the entire population of old and young, great and little, rich and poor, had mutually determined to come out of their houses to witness the ovation extended to the returning New-York regiments from the field of battle. From the roofs of public and other buildings, the National flag was displayed, and in many instances mottoes of welcome in letters of evergreen were exhibited at the windows of private residences. That the troops had an earnest and sincere reception at the hands of the people will not be doubted by any one who saw the proceedings of yesterday. That the troops appreciated the feeling which prompted the manifestation of interest in their behalf was also apparent. The absence of omnibuses and other vehicles which monopolize Broadway on week-days, rendered that thoroughfare comparatively free for the occasion. Wherever the returning soldiers appeared they were greeted with repeated acclamations. On all the down-town streets, little knots—the nucleus of which was one or more of the volunteers—could be observed, and if one was near enough to listen, he could hear question upon question concerning experience of the regiment during its two years' service, asked the brave fellows who at times must have considered the ordeal equal to that to which they had been subjected on the battle-field. As a general thing, the troops looked well, although, of course, camp-life had taken from them their naturally fair complexions, and given in return a bronzed and hardy visage. According to the late order, they were permitted to retain their arms.

THE FOURTH REGIMENT.

This regiment was the first to arrive. At the early hour of 5 A. M. they came over from Jersey City, having left Philadelphia at about midnight. The unseasonableness of the hour prevented thousands of persons from viewing them as they marched up Cortlandt-street and Broadway to the Arsenal, in Centre-street, their temporary headquarters. But they did not during their tramp escape notice. The beating of drums soon brought together a crowd, and simultaneously demonstrated that not a few inhabitants improve the advantages afforded, these delightful Spring mornings, by early rising. The regiment, numbering about 325 men, proceeded to Centre-street, unescorted by any military body, and deposited their arms and equipments in the arsenal. They were then dismissed, with an order to reassemble at 1 o'clock to-day, at the same place. Arrangements have been made by the Committee on National Affairs of the Common Council, the members and ex-members of the Veteran Scott Life Guard, the Fifth regiment (Duryee Zouaves,) the Twenty-second regiment, N. Y. N. G., and other military organizations, also the Fire Departments of this City, Brooklyn and Williamsburgh, to give the Fourth a grand welcoming reception to-day. The procession will move from Canal-street at 3 P. M., and proceed to the City Hall where the column will be reviewed by the Mayor and members of the Common Council. The colors of the Scott Life Guard, upon which are inscribed the names of the Mexican battles in which that company were engaged under Gen. SCOTT, and which have been deposited in the City Hall since their departure with the regiment two years ago, will be formally received by them in the afternoon. The column will then march up Broadway to the Fifth-avenue Hotel where it will be reviewed by Gen. SCOTT. A national salute will be fired from the Park. In the evening the regiment will march to the City Assembly Rooms to partake of a sumptuous banquet to be prepared for them by the municipal authorities.

THE TWENTIETH REGIMENT.

The Twentieth regiment (Weber's Turner Rifles) arrived at Pier No 1, at about noon, on the Camden and Amboy boat. They are commanded by Col. VAN VREDSACK, and number 210 men. As the men were leaving the boat, a salute was fired by a section of Company B, Fourth artillery, Capt. JOHN J. DIEHL. In addition to the numerous organizations which had assembled in the vicinity of the Pier to receive the regiment, a large concourse of people, including hundreds of ladies, occupied the sidewalks and every available space of room not taken by the numbers in regular procession. The moment the regiment passed through the gate which incloses the pier, they were greeted with vociferous shouts by the multitude, who pressed en masse and with unbounded ardor to get nearer the ones they revered and cherished. Then followed shaking of hands, congratulations, embracings and other evidences of rejoicings, which consumed nearly an hour of time, after which the column was re-formed, and proceeded up Broadway to Grand-street, through Grand to Orchard-street to Turn Halle. The following was the order of the procession:

One Section Company B, Fourth Artillery, Capt. John J. Diehl.
Turnwart Balliett, assisted by Messrs. Solb and Staff, Marshals.
Company C, Seventieth Regiment, N. Y. S. N. G., Capt. Schack.
Two Companies of the Twenty-eighth Regiment, N. Y. S. N. G., under command of Capt. Merkert, 120 men, headed by Turl's Band.
Independent Schuetzen, of Brooklyn, Capt. Schurich.
New-Yorker Schuetzen Gilde, Capt. Schmalz.
Drum Corps of Fifth Regiment, Drum-Major Serchet.
New Brooklyn Turn Verein, H. Hassman, President.
Brooklyn Turn Verein.
Union Hill Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, H. Redman, Foreman.
Allemania Glee Club, M. Leduski, President.
Social Reformer Liedertafel, C. Lembke, President.
Williamsburgh Saenger Fund, F. Fuchs, President.
Fidelia Glee Club, F. Kattner, President.
Bloomingdale Turn Verein, headed by their Juvenile Drum Corps, M. Sau, President.
Jersey City Turn Verein, M. Stoehr, President.
Hudson City Turn Verein, M. Breglein, President.
Morrisania Turn Verein, M. Von Gericht, President.
Strattenport Turn Verein, Jas. Williams, President.
Williamsburgh Turn Verein, accompanied by a Brass Band, Mr. Leibels, President.
The New-York Turner Boys.
The Ex-Members of the Twentieth Regiment, in charge of Capt. Otto Hoym.
Wounded Men in Carriages.
The Twentieth Regiment.
The New-York Turn Verein.

All along the route the Twentieth was received with cheers. On this occasion, they cannot assert they were forgotten by their Teutonic friends and acquaintances, for, certainly, it is not often one has an opportunity to witness—unless it is on some German gala-day—such a tremendous throng of that portion of our citizens. The Turn-Halle was a scene to behold. The crowd, the rush, the jam to get into that edifice was terrific. Throughout the entire afternoon and evening the street in front of the Hall was completely blockaded. But patience cannot always succeed, as it proved in this instance; for it became certain the larger the crowd remained, the less likely would they be to get within the building. Bearing that in mind, the people gradually dispersed, and allowed the soldiers to enjoy a night's repose.

THE FIRST REGIMENT.

This regiment came in at the foot of Cortlandt-street, at about 3 o'clock P. M. It numbers about 400 men, and was engaged, as was also the other two regiments in the recent contest on the Rappahannock. The First was one of KEARNEY'S old regiments, and has won imperishable renown. In the late action it was attached to SICKLE'S Corps. They were received at the pier by a battalion of the Seventh Regiment National Guard Company C, preceded by DODWORTH'S Band, and were by them escorted up Broadway and back to the Park Barracks, where the regiment was furnished with a supper and provided with lodgings for the night. Having been, as this regiment has, through the campaigns of the Peninsula, Maryland and Virginia, it has especial claims to our notice; and when it is remembered that the brave and noble KEARNY once directed its movements, we can view it with double interest.

As many inquiries were made, yesterday, in reference to a bit of red flannel that each man wore on his cap, it perhaps will be well to explain that it was placed there in accordance with the desire of Gen. KEARNEY, in order to distinguish the men of his division from those of other divisions. It is not decided how long the regiment will make the Park barracks their headquarters, before they disperse. The following is a list of the field officers:

Colonel—J. FREDERICK PIERSON.
Lieutenant-Colonel—Francis L. Leland.
Major—Joseph E. Yeurman, (missing in action.)
Surgeon—John Howe.
Quartermaster—R. G. Walmsley.

The First Regiment—Reception on Sunday.

The sudden change of plans for the formal reception of the First regiment New-York State Volunteers, has a brief history, of considerable interest. The notice of the programme for Sunday was issued on Saturday night. Early on Sunday morning there was a meeting at the Mayor's office of such gentlemen as rarely assemble in the City Hall—especially on the Sabbath. Among them were Messrs. James Brown, Wm. E. Dodge, David Hoadley, Jno. T. Johnson, C. R. Roberts, R. H. McCurdy, Norman White, Fred. DePeyster, R. S. Stuart, Stewart Brown, F. S. Winston, Ed. Dwight, W. H. Vermilye, F. G. Foster, A. R. Wetmore, Jas. W. Beekman, Jas. Suydam, O. E. Wood, Alex. Stuart, S. B. Schieffelin, and the venerable Gen. Swift. These gentlemen expressed to His Honor their belief that the arrangements for the Sunday ovation must have been made without his sanction, and their desire that it should be deferred to some secular day, when they and those who shared their views of the Sabbath, might be allowed to take part in the public proceedings.

The Mayor assured them that he had not been consulted, and that it would quite accord with his views and wishes if the proposed change could be effected. After communicating with the Committee on National Affairs, he assured these gentlemen that there had been a prompt compliance with their desires.

The National Committee and the representatives of the regiment then appeared, and the citizens present were introduced. Messrs. BROWN, DODGE and McCURDY severally expressed the satisfaction of all present in view of the change of programme, and the respect it indicated for the feelings of Christian citizens.

Col. ALLEN, the founder of the First Regiment, and its representative in the absence of its wounded Colonel, said the change accorded with the wishes of the officers of the regiment. It was their desire to have as little parade as possible on the Sabbath. They would march directly to their headquarters, stack their arms, secure the public property, go directly to their homes, and receive the congratulations of their fellow-citizens Tuesday next.

Gen. SWIFT said he was too advanced to do service, but he wanted to express his cordial approval of the course which had been adopted. He thought it honorable to all concerned. Those who honor the Sabbath will be honored of God.

After the above interview, and in spite of its result, the regiment, with a part of the escort, extended their march to Union-square. The Mayor, and, we presume, the National Committee, cannot be held responsible for this departure from the arrangement at the City Hall, so that it is without Municipal sanction.

Losses in the One Hundred and Second New-York.

No. 4 WEST TWENTY-NINTH-STREET, N. Y., Saturday, May 9, 1863.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I have seen no mention, as yet, in the papers, of the losses of the One Hundred and Second N. Y. V., in the battles at Chancellorsville. I have just learned that Lieut.-Col. AVERY was very seriously wounded by a ball through neck and jaw, and is at Washington suffering greatly.

Capt. JOHN MEAD was wounded in the arm.

Sergeant CHARLES WHEELER was taken prisoner.

One of the officers, it is said, captured a stand of rebel colors, and tied them about his waist.

The One Hundred and Second was in the Third brigade, (Gen. GEORGE S. GREENE,) of GEN. GEARY'S division. Very respectfully, &c.,

THOS. B. VAN BUREN, Late Col. 102d N. Y. V.

The Wounded.

A car load of sick and wounded soldiers arrived about 7 o'clock A. M. Sunday morning—a few of them wounded in the recent battles. The hospital steamer Thomas P. Way met them at the depot in Jersey City, and they were taken over to Bedloe's Island. Surgeon C. McDOUGALL, Medical Director of this Department, has had every preparation made, so that every care and attention will be bestowed upon those sent to this Department.

Self-Denial and Generosity of the Soldiers.

The following is from one of the delegates of the Christian Commission:

"Some of the soldiers expressed their gratitude that their friends at home still cared for them; but as I turned away from the group, one of the two mentioned thrust their greenbacks into my hand for himself and comrade, as a contribution to the Commission. I was so surprised, that I refused at first to receive them, but they insisted, saying with restrained, but evident feeling, that they wished to do something for the soldiers themselves, when the people felt so at home. I told them I came to give to the soldiers, not to receive. But still they pressed it. 'They could not use their money,' they said, 'better.' Now, here is something that appeals to the noble hearts at home, if anything could. I took the names of these two men. Let these names go upon your subscription book, and record beside them: 'Privates in the army at Suffolk, Va., an unsolicited offering;' and add to the second name, 'This name is borne by a wife and children at home.' They think they cannot use their money better, living in tents, sleeping on hard beds, eating coarse fare, separated from friends, but cheerfully ready for any sacrifice. What do the people at home think, whose comforts and luxuries never fail?"

How affecting is the fact above stated. Privates in the army, with dependent families, urging their contributions on the delegate, to supply other soldiers with the bread of life, with which they had been supplied! Christian men and women, "go ye and do likewise."

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

CONCLUSIVE PROOFS OF THE EFFICACY OF HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

HEAR THE WITNESSES!

Worthless and pernicious articles are so often bolstered up in the advertising columns of the Press by fabricated letters, that the proprietors of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS rarely give quotations from their business correspondence, lest the GENUINE OPINIONS of those who use and appreciate a GENUINE ARTICLE, should be confounded by the unthinking with the FULSOME RIGMAROLE put into the mouths of MEN OF STRAW by unscrupulous empirics and charlatans, whose double object it is to SELL both their trash and the PUBLIC.

Believing, however, that FACTS IMPORTANT TO THE HEALTH AND COMFORT OF THE PUBLIC, and which can be VERIFIED AT ANY MOMENT by addressing the parties who vouch for them, ought not to be hid under a bushel, the undersigned publish below a few communications of recent date, to which they invite the attention of the people, and at the same time ESPECIALLY REQUEST all readers who may feel interested in the subject, to ADDRESS THE INDIVIDUALS THEMSELVES, and ascertain the correctness of the particulars.

It may be thought, perhaps, that a preparation like HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which has long been a STANDARD TONIC throughout the WESTERN HEMISPHERE, and is rapidly becoming a staple of trade at the antipodes, speaks for itself in stronger terms than private eulogium can speak for it. This is true; but the phases of disease are almost innumerable, and every day new instances of the success of the Bitters, either as a PREVENTIVE or a CURE, come to the knowledge of the proprietors through the mails. Some of these are of immediate interest to thousands placed in precisely the same circumstances as the parties who have been PROTECTED or RELIEVED, and therefore it seems almost an act of duty to put them on record.

For example, seven-eighths of the multitudes who go to sea suffer more or less from SEA-SICKNESS. They dread this terrible affliction more than the fury of the elements, and it must be an unspeakable satisfaction to them to learn that it can be averted by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. It is only within the last twelve months that this GREAT FACT IN MEDICATION has been established, and hence it is not universally known. Those who have tested this newly-developed property of the preparation, and escaped sea-sickness by its aid, are naturally anxious to spread the glad tidings among all who "go down to the sea in ships and do business on the great waters." The witness upon this point, whose testimony is appended, not only gives his own experience, but corroborates it with emphatic evidence from other sources. If there be any who are skeptical on the subject, they are hereby referred directly to him and to the gentlemen who shared with him the beneficial effects of the antidote.

The immense increase in the sales of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, both at home and abroad, during the past year, proves that the world, while it obeys the Scriptural injunction to "try all things," only "HOLDS FAST to that which is GOOD." Spurious preparations, like poisonous fungi, are continually springing up, but their character is soon discovered, and they are "flung like worthless weeds away." On the other hand, a great antidote, that performs all it promises, and even more than its proprietors claimed for it on its introduction, is "not for a day, but for all time."

Every dose administered of a useless or deleterious nostrum helps to disabuse the public mind of the impressions it may have received from the flourish of trumpets with which the deceptious article was announced; while, on the contrary, every bottle sold of a really valuable medicine secures the permanent custom of the purchaser, and makes him an ADVERTISER OF ITS MERITS among his friends. It is thus that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS have obtained their unparalleled popularity. The Press, indeed, has made the GREAT STOMACHIC widely known, but it is the uniformly successful results of PERSONAL EXPERIMENT that have rendered it a HOUSEHOLD MEDICINE throughout the length and breadth of the land, and the main reliance of the TRAVELLER, the VOYAGER, the MINER and the PIONEER.

During the Summer months a pure wholesome tonic, in which are also incorporated the properties of an antibilious and mild aperient agent, is especially needed. Such a preparation is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the surest preventive and cure of dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation and nervous debility ever placed within the reach of the community.

Against the depressing and sickening tendency of heat and miasma, it is a potent safeguard, and upon persons of feeble constitution and uncertain health, its renovating effects are most extraordinary.

ST. NICHOLAS HOTEL, NEW-YORK, March 2, 1863.

DR. HOSTETTER—Dear Sir: Being of a bilious temperament, and having suffered much from sea-sickness heretofore, I determined, when leaving New-Orleans for New-York, in June last, to try your Celebrated Stomach Bitters. Having made the trip in the propeller Trade Wind, without the least inconvenience, owing to their preventive efficacy, I procured, on the 20th of July, a box of your Bitters for the use of myself and a few friends, on our contemplated voyage to Europe in the Great Eastern. After getting to sea I opened the box and, together with about ten of my fellow-passengers, partook of the Bitters. On the second day some of the ladies on board felt sea-sick, but by taking half a wineglassful three times a day, they soon recovered. Dr. Goldsborow, the ship's physician, and Captain Paton, the Commander, together with a large portion of the passengers subsequently experimented with the Bitters, and uniformly with entire success. They will certify to the fact, that during the whole trip not one person on board was sea-sick after the second day. Dr. G. having appropriated the last remaining bottle, as an infallible specific, I had none of the article on my return voyage, and suffered more than I can describe in consequence. I have orders for two boxes from two of my late fellow passengers, now in Liverpool, and shall send them out by the next steamer. You ought to have a depot in Liverpool. Advising all persons venturing for the first time (or indeed at any time) to sea, to obtain if possible, a supply of your bitters before leaving port, and thereby SECURE themselves against sea-sickness,

I am, respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN A. MUELLOR.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT, CONVALESCENT CAMP, NEW-ALEXANDRIA, VA., March 9, 1863.

Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH: Sirs, I have used some of your HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS with the greatest success imaginable. I have been sorely afflicted with Dyspepsia for five years. I have spent more than three hundred dollars in paying doctor bills and buying medicines, some of which gave temporary relief; but your most invaluable remedy has done more good than all others I have ever used.

Respectfully yours, SAMUEL RYEN.

EAGLEPORT, MORGAN COUNTY, Ohio, March 2, 1863.

Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH: Gents, send us four dozen HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as we are nearly out, and we can't do without it; in fact it is superseding all other stomachic preparations with us.

Respectfully, PRICE & SILVERY.

NEW-MAYSVILLE, PUTNAM CO., IND., Feb. 14, 1863.

Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH: Gents, You will please send me two or three dozen of your very desirable and highly popular "STOMACH BITTERS." My supply is well nigh exhausted.

Very respectfully, A. J. HAWN.

HOSTETTER & SMITH, Proprietors, Pittsburgh, Penn. New-York Office, No. 428 Broadway.
